Newark, O., Jan. 28.—One man was killed and a portion of a fast New York-St. Louis

Panhandle limited train hopped over into a 15-foot gulley injuring a mail clerk and bruising and shaking up 47 passengers shortly before last midnight when the train struck an automobile at a crossing at Pataskala, 15 miles from here. Lee McCormick, 24, of Aetna, who was driving the automobile, was instantly killed. James Masters, mail clerk, was seriously injured when the locomotive and three mail cars and two Pullmans were derailed. The train going rapidly struck the automobile in the center and tossed it fully 50 feet to one side of the track. The locomotive was derailed by the impact, and, with the five cars following, plunged over the embankments. McCormick was found dead in the wreckage.

UNITED STATES WOULD SQUARE SUB WARFARE

A GENERAL CONFERENCE IS PLANNED

New York, Jan. 28.—Officials of the leading railways of the United States are considering a plan to organize a general conference committee of the railway managers of the whole country to negotiate with representatives of four brotherhoods of railway employees which are voting on the question whether to demand an eight hour working day. It is stated that if this plan is put into effect it will be for the first time in the history of the country. The plan was proposed because it is realized that the railway officials have no adequate method of meeting the extraordinary situation now confronting them. Never before has there been a labor movement of such magnitude among railway employees, the officials say.

SUBS BUSY

AGREEMENT IS ASKED OF THE NATIONS

THE U. S. FORMULA FOR SUB WARFARE

First—A non-combatant has the right to traverse the high seas in a merchant ship entitled to fly a belligerent flag and rely upon the rules of international law and the laws of humanity if the vessel is approached by a belligerent war vessel.

Second—A merchant vessel of any nationality should not be subject to attack until the belligerent warship has warned her to stop.

Third—Any belligerent owned merchant vessel should promptly obey any order from a belligerent warship to stop.

Fourth—No such merchant vessel should be fired upon unless she tries to flee or to resist by force and even in such case any attack upon her by the warship must stop as soon as the flight or resistance ceases.

Fifth—Only in cases it should be impossible for military reasons for the warship to supply a prize crew or to convey the merchant ship into port will she be justified in sinking such merchantman and in that case passengers and crew must be removed to a place of safety.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—The United States, in asking all the European belligerents to make a general agreement to square their submarine warfare, with the principles of humanity and international law, has taken the position that under changed conditions of naval warfare, merchant ships should carry no armament whatever.

All the powers have been notified that unless they subscribe to such principles armed merchantmen will be denied entry to American ports except under the conditions which apply to warships.

Such a proposal now in the hands of the belligerent governments has been transmitted in a note.

ANTI-GERMAN RIOTS

Paris, Jan. 28.—Fresh anti-German demonstrations took place last night at Lausanne, a Swiss city on the north shore of Lake Geneva. Towards midnight the great crowds which surged through the streets were dispersed but at the railway station a small group of persons surrounding a German flag was attacked with canes, stones and fists. The police were forced to use their swords before they could rescue the men attacked.

Is Lamar's Successor On High Tribunal

Washington, Jan. 28.—President Wilson today selected Louis D. Brandeis of Boston to be associate justice of the supreme court to succeed the late Justice Lamar.

Mr. Brandeis' nomination went to the senate today. It was a surprise everywhere in official circles. Mr. Brandeis has never been mentioned for the vacancy.

The President's Choice To Succeed the Late Justice Lamar in the Supreme Court.

Mr. Brandeis is a lawyer who has been much in public life during the last three years not only in legal work but in various movements for social betterment. He is a Kentuckian by birth and is sixty years old. He was born and educated in Louisville, and later at Harvard University and in 1878 began practicing law in Boston.

He came most into prominence as a national figure three years ago through his participation in the celebrated Ballinger-Pinchot investigation in congress in which he was counsel for the forces which were opposed to Secretary Ballinger and sought his removal from office. Later he was counsel for the shippers who opposed the general increases in freight rates before the interstate commerce commission and during the same period he was at the forefront of those who were demanding an investigation of the financial affairs of the New Haven railroad.

Among his participation in other public affairs were his appearance as counsel for those who fought for the validity of workmen's hours of labor law in

CHICAGO POLICE RAID A "NEST" OF BANDITS

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Identification of Eddie Mack and four of the men arrested this morning as the robbers who raided the Washington Park National Bank yesterday and stole $15,000, was made today by J. Garland Stahl, vice president of the bank, according to Captain Nicholas Hunt, chief of Chicago detectives. He was positive in his identification of the suspects.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Much of the $15,000 stolen from the Washington Park National Bank in the raid yesterday, was recovered today by the police and among thirteen persons taken in custody the authorities believe that they have the five who participated in the robbery. Through a woman who was arrested with one of the suspected men word came to the police today of rooms which had been recently rented in a west side apartment building. Detectives went to the place and forced their way into a room occupied by five men and three women. While they were breaking down the door a newsboy in the street outside saw a pasteboard box fall at his feet. He kicked it and ten and twenty dollar bills fell out. The boy called a policeman nearby and they replaced the money in the box. Then the squad of detectives appeared with their prisoners and took charge of the money box.

At detective headquarters the money was counted and spread out on the captain's desk. It totalled $7,800 and many of the bills were identified by the cashier of the bank. The prisoners were taken to the office of the state's attorney to be questioned. Those held by the police are: "Eddie" Mack, "Eddie" Burns, alias Byrnes, Harry Pein, alias "Pinkie", Harry Brandt, Carl Hoffman, Aleck Bradie, Mrs. Margaret Hogan, Mrs. Beckie Pein, Julia Costello, Joseph Friedman and Augusta Friedman, his wife.

Captain Hunt said that the arrests were due to a "Hunch" which he had "that pickpockets had turned 'stick up' men." "I sent my men out to arrest Eddie Mack who was known to them as a pickpocket and to take also every man who ever worked with him. He suspected the house in Southwestern Avenue and the detail that went there got results."

ACID IS FORCED DOWN A BABE'S THROAT

New York, Jan. 28.—Four weeks old Julius Clements died today from the effects of a quantity of acid forced down his throat by an unidentified man while the child was sitting in a go-cart outside of a candy shop in the Bronx yesterday. Mrs. Charles Clements, the baby's mother, had stepped into the shop, leaving her four-year-old daughter Leonia to watch Julius.

When the mother rushed to the street in response to the girl's screams she found that the baby's mouth, chin and neck had been burned by a strong acid and the child was crying. "A man did it", said Leonia. "He gave baby something."

Police have been unable to obtain a clue to the identity of the child's prisoner and also are at a loss as to his motive.

British Casualties

London, Jan. 28.—Premier Asquith, in a written reply to a request for information says that the total British casualties in all fields of operations up to January 19, were 549,467, of which 24,122 were officers and 525,345 of other ranks.

The winter's inactivity on the fighting lines is reflected in the comparatively light losses of the British during the last few weeks. The previous official British report, made by Premier Asquith on December 24, gave casualties up to December 9, at 528,227, showing a loss in the intervening month of 12,240 or 685 daily. During the heaviest fighting British casualties have run far in excess of this average. They amounted to 60,000 in the battle of Loos alone in a period of two weeks last fall. The monthly average from the beginning of the war is about 32,000.

The British losses in the month preceding the period covered in today's report were still smaller. The total from November 9 to December 9, was 17,937.

HOPE FOR VESSEL IS ABANDONED

London, Jan. 28.—Grave anxiety is felt regarding the British steamship A-ppam, which left Dakar for Plymouth on Jan. 11, with 166 passengers and 134 in the crew. When about four days out wireless communication with the vessel suddenly ceased. A despatch from Hull to Lloyds says that the British steamship Tregentle reports having passed at sea on January 16, a lifeboat with the name A-ppam painted on the stern and the bow knocked away.

For several days past concern has been manifested in shipping circles regarding the fate of the A-ppam many days overdue on a ten day trip from Dakar in the French colony of Senegal, West Africa, for Plymouth. In the insurance market hope was nearly abandoned and it was difficult to effect re-insurances.

Two or three other steamships coming in the same direction as the A-ppam are also overdue.

Among the 166 passengers on board the A-ppam, were Colonial officials.

The A-ppam of 7,781 tons gross, 425 feet long, and 57 feet beam was built in 1913 by Harland and Wolff at Belfast, Ireland. She was owned by the British mid-African Steamship Navigation Company.

WILL FIGHT TO RETAIN THEIR JOBS

Columbus, O., Jan. 28.—State employees who have been threatened with dismissal because they received low grades in civil service examinations today threatened to fight for retention by filing suit to test the discretion of the state civil service commission in giving certain examination questions which they considered irrelevant to their duties.

Simultaneously Dr. Z. B. Campbell, chairman of the civil service commission, gave out a statement attacking "the rottenness of the spoils system" and declaring that the commission had no means of knowing the politics of applicants.

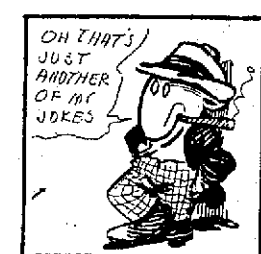

Heads of departments were awaiting official notification from the civil service commission. Dr. Campbell's statement was in reply to a complaint from the dairy and food department that an entirely new force of food inspectors would have to be broken in. "It is strange that the department did not think of this when it was breaking in a number of political appointees," said the statement. "The people of Ohio through their legislature appropriated $16,800 with which to pay the salaries of four dairy and food inspectors. Was this money appropriated to make places for those who had played small town politics and secured a few votes for their favored candidates? Because other candidates for these positions without political influences are better qualified to perform the duties, shows the rottenness of the spoils system."

"The present state civil service commission intends to enforce the present law without fear or favor and in justice to all. We believe that this will result in a better and larger class of candidates for all state positions and will ultimately give the state the best possible service in every branch."

ELECTROCUTES TWO NEGROES; DROPS DEAD

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 28.—Warden Sale, of the North Carolina penitentiary here died of apoplexy today after he had superintended the electrocution of two negroes. The warden appeared agitated as he unstrapped the bodies of the negroes from the electric chair and shortly afterwards became unconscious. He was dead when physicians reached him.

Billy Butt In Times Weather Man

I was only kiddin' about that cold snap yesterday—just sort of wanted to get folks prepared for it when it really does come. Besides this cold snap business is a bit uncertain nowadays and a weather man has to predict for a day or two in succession before it begins to take. If it don't come tomorrow I'm gonna call in the Hammer Club and the Old River Man for consultation. Here's the dope: Ohio—Snow or sleet tonight and Saturday. Colder tonight. Kentucky—Snow or sleet tonight and Saturday. Colder tonight. West Virginia—Cloudy tonight and Saturday. Probably rain or snow. Colder tonight.

PALE WIVES AND MOTHERS

Many women who had a good color in their cheeks grow pale and colorless when they become wives and mothers. When the fading color in cheeks and lips is accompanied by a loss of brightness in the eyes and an increasing heaviness in the step, the cause is to be sought in the state of the blood.

A blooded cause may contribute to the condition of blood that is known as anemia. Overwork, lack of outdoor exercise, insufficient rest and sleep, improper diet, these are a few of them. The important thing is to restore the blood to normal, to build it up so that the color will return to cheeks and lips, the brightness to the eyes and lightness to the step.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the great blood builder and invigorator. They begin at once to increase the red corpuscles in the blood and the new blood carries strength and health to every part of the body. Appetite increases, digestion becomes more perfect, energy and ambition return.

A pamphlet, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. If you mention this paper, your own druggist will send you a receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes, $2.50.

war was declared, but its relations to present conditions seem most unusual, although Mr. Oppenheim did not use the exact characters involved. It is a Paramount feature.

When this story was published in serial form in The Saturday Evening Post, it created a great wave of comment throughout the world and the photodramatic version is said to be unusually startling.

One of the greatest sets ever stage in California, was that of the interior of the Grand Gambling Salon in the Casino at Monte Carlo. An exact replica of the entire lower floor of the Casino was constructed. Special gaming tables were obtained and the Lasky Company was fortunate enough to secure a retired Monte Carlo croupier to supervise the correct arrangement of the scene. A number of persons who have visited Monte Carlo congratulate the Lasky Company on the accurate resemblance to the real gambling palace.

Louise Glaum in "The Forbidden Adventure" at Lyric Tomorrow. Louise Glaum star of "The Forbidden Adventure" a five part Mutual Masterpiece is conceded one of screenland's greatest emotional actresses. Some critics have even referred to her as the "Bernhardt of the screen."

In all the varied roles Miss Glaum has played before the motion picture camera, it is doubtful if she has ever before been presented with one calling for such a display of emotion as in the part of "Amecra," the fascinating little Arabian princess in this absorbing Mutual Masterpiece.

Miss Glaum's abundance of beautiful dark hair, her naturally dark complexion and her wonderful and expressive eyes, fit in with striking realism to the character of the little Arabian princess.

The serpentine charm and Oriental beauty of Louise Glaum affords her in the role of the young Arabian princess, the opportunity of delivering one of the most thrilling portrayals ever presented on a motion picture screen.

ANOTHER DIVORCE SUIT IS SEQUEL TO MOTES CASE

A sequel to the Motes divorce case, heard in common pleas court recently, came to light in the filing of a petition for divorce by Mrs. Nelson, wife of John N. Nelson, of Rarden.

As one of her grounds for divorce, Mrs. Nelson claims that her husband testified in common pleas court recently of familiar conduct with another woman, although he had told her that he was employed merely as a detective to watch another woman. She also accuses him of gross neglect of duty, extreme cruelty and habitual drunkenness.

Mrs. Nelson sets forth that she is the owner of sixteen acres of land in Rarden township, and wants that property decreed to her from her husband's dower interest.

According to the petition, the couple was married at Chatmanville, W. Va., and have two minor children, the custody of whom the mother prays for.

Nelson was a witness for the husband in the Motes divorce case recently, both families residing at Rarden.

TIRED WORKING MEN

A Local Druggist Suggests a Remedy for Overworked, Run-down Men.

The following letter from Manager Hodges recounts the experience and condition of many Portsmouth men. Read this letter and our offer which follows:

Brooklyn, N. Y. "I am a general office manager, and became so nervous and run-down in health that I lost my appetite and finally my health broke down completely, largely because of overwork. I tried Beef Iron and Wine, and other remedies without help. I saw Vinol advertised, and soon after taking it I noticed an improvement. I now have a hearty appetite, sleep better, feel better and have gained considerable in weight." Samuel Hodges, 501 Stone Ave.

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains the three oldest and most famous tonics viz.—the medicinal elements of fresh cod livers without oil, peptonate of iron and beef peptone.

We ask every run-down, overworked man in Portsmouth to try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that if it fails to help them as it did Mr. Hodges.

"RED LIGHT" RESIDENTS APPEAR BEFORE MAYOR

Eleven habitues of Portsmouth's newest tenderloin on Eleventh street, including owners and inmates, were called before Mayor Kaps early Friday morning for private conferences with the mayor and the chief of police.

What transpired at the conferences would not be divulged by the mayor, but it was rumored about the city building that the women were told under what conditions they would be allowed to remain.

Owner and inmates of each resort were taken separately before the mayor and dismissed separately from the chief's private office.

Taxis did a thriving business while it lasted, one driver having three round trip fares from Eleventh street to the mayor's office and return.

The women and girls attracted no small amount of attention from the group of hangers-on in the front office waiting for the morning session of police court to open.

One of the girls remarked as she went out of the door, "This is the best advertisement we've had since we started in business."

That his untiring work of the past year was fully appreciated by the members, was conclusively demonstrated when C. I. Cheyney, chief clerk at the N. & W. Terminals, was re-elected unanimously as president of the Men's Union of the First Christian church. Since this organization was formed, more than a year ago, Mr. Cheyney has served as its president. He has done splendid work and the members know of no better way to voice their approval of his efforts than to re-elect him as the ruling head of the body. B. A. Lechner was elected vice president, Kline Dawson, secretary, and Elmer Collins, treasurer. The Men's Union have planned to hold one big meeting early in February, but definite plans will not be given out at this time.

CARNATION DAY SATURDAY

The table of memorable dates shows that Saturday, January 29, is the day on which President William McKinley was born and also the fact that it will be observed as Carnation Day in commemoration of the martyred president. The white carnation was McKinley's favorite flower, and the custom of wearing a flower in his honor was started several years ago.

The suit is a sequel to a collision between Rev. Dunning's automobile and DeBerrienne's motorcycle.

ABOUT 300,000 BABIES DIE BEFORE ONE YEAR

The Census Bureau estimates that 300,000 babies died in this country last year before the age of one year, and it is stated that one-half of these deaths were needless if all mothers were strong and infants were breast-fed. Expectant mothers should strive to increase their strength with the strength-building fats in Scott's Emulsion which improves the blood, suppresses nervousness, aids the quality of milk, and feeds the very life cells.

Physicians prescribe Scott's Emulsion; it is doubly important during nursing. No alcohol. Every drug store has it. Insist on Scott's—the white-food medicine. No advanced prices. Scott & Bower, New York, N. Y.

"Unders" To Banquet Victorious "Overs"

Admitting that they are beaten beyond recall and that there is absolutely no chance to overcome the big lead of their adversaries, the "Unders", captained by Dr. P. W. Young, announced Friday, that they would provide a banquet to the "Overs", duck-pin champions of the city, at the Baker House, Wheelersburg, on next Wednesday evening.

It will be recalled that the two teams agreed to roll a 15 game series, the losers not only to pay for the games, but to provide a banquet for the winners. The "Overs" clinched the contest last Wednesday, being more than 400 pins to the good. Captain W. A. Hutchins was informed by Captain Young, Friday, that the big feed would come off next Wednesday. Needless to add that all players will hit 300 at the banquet, which promises to be one grand affair.

HOW TO HEAL SKIN-DISEASES

A Baltimore doctor suggests this simple, but reliable and inexpensive, home treatment for people suffering with eczema, ringworm, rashes and similar itching, burning skin troubles. At any reliable druggist's get a jar of resitol ointment and a cake of resitol soap. These will not cost a bit more than seventy-five cents. With the resitol soap and warm water bathe the affected parts thoroughly, until they are free from crusts and the skin is soft.

Dry very gently, spread on a thin layer of the resitol ointment, and cover with a light bandage—if necessary to protect the clothing. This should be done twice a day. Usually the distressing itching and burning stop with the first treatment, and the skin soon becomes clear and healthy again.

A HINT FOR SHAVERS
If you want a refreshing shave, with a thick, creamy lather, try a resitol shaving stick. It contains the soothing, healing, resitol medication which makes it especially welcome to men with tender faces.

A PLEA FOR KENTUCKY

Addressing the publishers of Ohio Daily newspapers at Columbus, Wednesday morning of this week, Hon. J. Sherman Porter, editor of the Lexington, Ky., Leader, made a strong plea for justice to his adopted state in the matter of handling news. It is the old case of giving a dog a bad name and it will cling to him no matter how undeserved. Kentucky has been the scene of bitter feuds in days gone past, Mr. Porter explained. "Some communities undoubtedly ran wild, but it was only a spasmodic eruption. The people of Kentucky are not different from the people in Ohio," said Mr. Porter. "They are good, law-abiding citizens. They believe in upholding the law. They are not behind other communities in the percentage of illiterates. Most of her people are pure, native stock, few foreign born residents being numbered among her population." Here the speaker cited some statistics to show that there were higher percentages of illiteracy in various Ohio cities than in Kentucky. Then he remarked, "We had a few feuds and now every time there is a murder in our state it is heralded broadcast as a feud. A murder with a Kentucky date line on it, will get on the first page of every daily in the land under a scare head, while a more gruesome murder from some other locality will go on the back page under an eight point head. Why, life is safer in Breathitt county, Ky., than it is in the large cities of the country and statistics will bear me out."

It was a good, strong, sensible plea for a great state that has received more than its share of publicity, and undeserved publicity at that. Incidentally Mr. Porter is an Ohio man, having been born and reared at Gallipolis, although he has resided at Lexington for a number of years. He has developed into a first class speaker, in addition to being a first class newspaper man, and his address was one of the very best on the program of the Associated Dailies meeting. It was a pleasure to hear him and publishers gave him that hearty, whole-souled applause when he concluded that showed that it was meant.

THE MARVEL OF THE AGE

In Chicago they are holding a show to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the automobile. Two decades are not long, but in the span of gain source anything marks such length of advance as the progress from the "one-lunger" as the first automobile was called, to the cars, running from four to twelve cylinders, in which side millions today.

The advent of the automobile brought with it some derision, but it made progress from the start. In 1899, when it was three years old, 3,700 were sold. From thence it began to break a speed record every year in popular acceptance. Last year almost 800,000 motor vehicles of all descriptions found buyers. It is estimated the demand this year will call for near a million and a quarter. That is not extravagant considering past increase and present call. The truth of it is that demand was never equal to that of the present moment. Every prominent factory has more orders on hand than it can fill and agents from all over the country are driving makers to distraction by insistent clamor for at least a part of their allotment.

And talk about gasoline going up. Small wonder. Automobiles in 1915 drank up not so very far from a billion gallons of fluid fuel. This year they are expected to consume far over a billion.

We are willing to admit the grace and beauty of diction and the general effectiveness of the oratory of Colonel Clinkenbeard, but we serve notice on him right now that he will find in us a most severe and unsparring critic if he starts in to add letter writing to his other accomplishments.

The cold wave cut it a trifle short, but it is well to be thankful even for small blessings.

"O, THE TEARS WE WASTE"

WHAT THE FIGURES TELL

"The states of the old confederacy have less population, all of them together, than the state of New York."

Using this premise as a text, a paper that struggles desperately for the dubious credit of being a G. O. P. organ, proceeds to give the old and almost forgotten bloody shirt a few waves and raises an alarm of how the southern confederates are in the congressional saddle and overriding all of our grandest and fondest institutions. If its conclusions be as false as its figures, or its assumption of what are the figures, then its case is more than a farce, it is a tragedy of ignorance. New York, according to the census report of 1910, had a population of not quite ten million; the states of the confederacy, Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Maryland, North Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, South Carolina and Virginia, according to that same report, had almost thirty-one million. Admittedly New York has gained some in the past five and half years, but it is doubtful if she leads Texas alone in that respect and all the other states mentioned have been showing unvaried development during the same period. So the probabilities are that the so-called rebel states have close on to four times as many citizens as has New York.

An evangelist is entitled to his views on this terrestrial and celestial, how to migrate from one to the other successfully. His own success is measured in his ability to induce others to subscribe with him. Those who don't agree have the right to go their own way and take chances.

When the King of Greece wanted to hand out a roast to the allies he called in a newspaper reporter and delivered it to him. Which shows that the King of Greece is pretty much like other people when he has a grutch on.—Columbus Dispatch.

Newspaper men, who were at Columbus this week in annual convention all brought stories of prosperous times. And good times are reflected in the counting room of a newspaper office quicker than anywhere else.

January is ordinarily a dull month with the factories, but it isn't so in this year, which looks like it is going to be one of great and saving grace.

It is said that with the prevailing styles, women do not show their age. But they show nearly everything else.—Dayton News.

Must be a mighty lot of people going to smoke up. A local factory has received an inquiry for a million stogies.

DOES NOT EXCITE US

We have been reading so long and so elaborately about a certain dinner party that a certain Columbus editor plans to give some of his admiring rural or provincial knights of the pen that we have come to the conclusion that on matters eatable so far as editors are concerned banquets are just to be read about and not met up with in real china and silver form. That is why we decline to get excited over the proposition which follows from the Wellston Daily Sentinel:

"Some of these sunshiny days when the buds begin to burst, and pork, rape, dandelion, leather breeches and other luscious members of the greens flock, begin to show themselves along the streams and in the meadows, we are going to invite our old friends Harry Taylor, of The Portsmouth Times, and Editor Funk of the Oak Hill Press, to come up and join us. We have already got our eye 'set' on a hog jowl to season the pot and it will be a feast 'fitten for the gods such as they are.' It will rain elopse that long promised dinner that Editor Wilson of the State Journal, has been vouching on since the memory of man runneth, etc."

A VIRTUE SURVEY

There have been so many vice surveys in this country, how would it do to have a virtue survey, just for a change? We have had hordes of so-called experts going about the cities nosing out vice, and charting it and labeling it. We have read so many reports of vice existing here and there, that we believe if somebody would invent a virtue committee it would come as a relief.

Let's start out a committee hunting virtue. Let's know something about how good this old world is, now that we have been told how bad it is. Let's put people to nosing around to find out how good some of us are, instead of having them ferreting out facts about our badness. Wouldn't it be inspiring?

We are receiving daily the reports of vice commissions of various cities. They are sordid, of course. Some of these reports embody hundreds of pages, and the literature can not pass through the mails. But there has been received in this office only one document showing how many good people there are in any city.—Columbus Dispatch.

Like everybody else our good young governor knows how a newspaper should be run. And we'll say his ideas are all right, but with this goes no guaranty that his practice would be.

People are responding with unusual liberality to appeals for aid for the starving Jews of the east. They know the case must be desperate else would there be no appeal.

New 1915 is starting out like she means to set a new pace for disaster and disturbance of every sort and extent.

It has come, just as we always knew it would. This balmy weather has made Cincinnati perk up and she is beginning to claim a show for the pennant next season. Well, let her keep on. There'll come a time when she will be like us with our new station, a real next year.

Science may say that dimples are defects in humanity, but science may just as well understand, first as last, that it will have to "show" the girl that has one.—Marion Star.

Tuesday the scenes about the hotels made it look like Portsmouth is some town.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.

O. O. MCINTYRE.

New York, Jan. 28.—Mr. Percy Mackaye and his butterfly social climber, who had been searching the room for some time, discovered the actor and demanded wrathfully: "What are you trying to hide for? Don't you know I've been having you paged for the last ten minutes?"

"I'm sorry," apologized Daly, "but the fact is I never heard anyone page me. That bellboy over there has been yelling out 'Mr. Daly' so loudly the last ten minutes I couldn't hear anybody else."

There is a political genius over on the East Side who has opened up an office, hired a blonde typewriterist and is sending out 42 centimetre announcements that he is to be a candidate for the presidential nomination.

Mayor Mitchell spiked the little game just when the press agent force was in a fever of activity over the plan. The park police are careful to drive out the heedless and vicious and Mayor Mitchell, even if he does mingle in society, believes that society people should also be prevented from a park invasion.

William Camp, eminent cigarette manufacturer and retired husband, dropped into Rector's the other night well fortified for the evening's entertainment and accompanied by an exceedingly comely young person. "Some looker, this one," ejaculated Mr. Camp, as the crowd cast admiring glances at his companion. "One of the sappers in 'Experience.' This little lady plays Vice and doubles in Slander."

Arnold Daly sat in the lobby of Copeland Townsend's Hotel Majesty the other afternoon, idling in his chair, waiting for a friend to

Ma and Her Auto

Before we take an auto-ride page says to me, "My dear, Now just remember I don't need assistance from the rear. If you will just keep still back there and hold in check your fright, I'll take you where you want to go and get you back all right."

Remember that my hearings good and also I'm not blind. And I can drive this car without suggestions, from behind."

Ma promises that she'll keep still, then off we go. But soon she notices ahead a peddler and his cart. "You'd better toot your horn," says she, "to let him know we're near. He might turn out," and pa replies: "Just shriek at him, my dear."

And then he adds: "Some day some guy will make a lot of dough By putting horns on tonneau seats for women folks to blow."

A little further on ma says: "He signaled for a turn." And pa says: "Did he?" in a tone that's hot enough to burn. "Oh, there's a boy on roller skates," ma cries. "Now do go slow; I'm sure he doesn't see our car."

At pa says: "I dunno. I think I don't need glasses yet, but really it may be that I am blind an' cannot see what's right in front of me."

If pa should speed the car a bit, some rigs to hurry past, Ma says: "Now do be careful! You are driving much too fast."

An' all the time she's pointing out the dangers of the street, An' keeps him posted on the roads where street cars he will meet. Last night when we got safely home, pa sighed an' said: "My dear,

I'm sure we've all enjoyed the drive you gave us from the rear."

A Bad Place To Be Sick

Mrs. S. M. Kennedy, of Burlington, came up to see Miss Martha tion. His name is Jorkins. A friend met him. "Aren't you going to make a fool of yourself?" he inquired.

"Not at all. I have no hope of being nominated, but I shall come out with flying colors. I am going to make speeches saying that the bosses will have to take me or else take Roosevelt. And, as they're going to take Roosevelt anyway, a lot of the neighbors will think I jammed him down the bosses' throats. It is likely to make me an alderman eventually."

H. T. Webster, the cartoonist, and his companion in crime, N. M. Brinkerhoff, are working out a problem which portends much. They are trying to figure out just how much chlorine gas must be administered to the male onion, popularly known as "the life of the party," and the vicious young thing who wants to "live her own life" and also carry a catch-key.

Three more ice skating rinks are announced for the Broadway section and two new skate stores have opened. The town seems to be skating mad. Maurice the Castles and Benito Glass are secretly learning the skating art and experts are in demand in the vaudeville houses.

There are very prominent skaters in the Tenderloin, but their skating is of a different variety, although they are quite proficient in wearing in and out swinging doors.

Life-Long Ambition Achieved

"I want to be buried with my hat on," was the oft-repeated statement of a Mississippi county farmer, who five years ago purchased a black fedora and kept it at his home for part of his funeral wardrobe. At the funeral services last week friends who attended saw him dressed for the last long sleep and wearing his hat.—Kansas City Times.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, O. Office Phone 80.

Gridley Bryant, a civil engineer, projected in 1825 the first railroad constructed in this country. With the assistance of Colonel T. H. Perkins, he completed it the next year. The road was built to carry granite from the quarries of Quincy, Mass., to the nearest tidewater and is known as the Quincy railroad. It is four miles long, including branches, and cost to build $50,000. Of five stone gauges, this railway had stone sleepers eight feet apart. One of these were set the wooden rails, six inches thick and twelve inches high. Wrought iron plates three inches wide and a quarter inch thick were spiked upon the top of these rails. At all crossings stone rails were used, and stone rails were laid close where as the wooden rails decayed.

Dear Miss Wise—What makes one's nose so red when out in the cold in winter, and how can it be avoided?

MINNIE.

Cold weather always makes the nose red. Keep the circulation good and wash carefully in hot, then cold water at night. Do not clog the pores by using too much powder.

Dear Miss Wise—Do you think people who stay at home are lazy? I am staying with an aunt who does not want me to work. She is not rich, but she has plenty to keep me without working. Of course she and I do the housework and fine plenty to keep us busy. Someone said to me the other day that a girl of my age (20) who did not go out and earn her own living was considered lazy. I am not lazy, but there's no use in me going out and working when I don't have to. I'd rather leave my job for some girl who needs the work.

BROWN EYES.

Do not pay any attention to people who say you are lazy. They are probably jealous. If your aunt is pleased to have you stay at home I would certainly do so. Many girls of 20 do not work.

Dear Miss Wise—How could I tell my chum, who dresses so shabbily, to be more careful of her appearance, as she does not care how she looks? Her parents are able to buy plenty of clothes for her, but she does not ask for new things very often.

BETTY.

Take your chum to the stores, or past the windows and ask her if she does not admire some of the dresses. See if you cannot interest her in them. You might suggest that you think some people should dress well if they can afford it. Tell her of the things you want, and see if you can't make her want some more clothes.

Dear Miss Dolly—Is it proper for a girl to write to a fellow first if she does not know him? Do you think he would consider her silly or crazy if she should do so? PRISCILLA.

He sure would think she was both silly and crazy about him. Don't do it, Prissy.

Dear Dolly—Are people going to wear ruffles this summer? MAYME.

The new spring dresses are showing ruffles.

Dear Miss Wise—A friend spoke to me on the street, and as I did not recognize him I did not answer. Would he consider it a lack of courtesy? I should like to speak to him if he would appear friendly.

MABEL.

He probably saw that you did not recognize him. That often happens. If you meet him again and have a good opportunity you might tell him that you are sorry that you did not recognize him the other time.

Dear Miss Wise—Would it be right for two persons to marry when their grandfathers were brothers? What relationship would you call them, second or third cousins? The mother of the girl and the father of the boy are first cousins. What relationship are they? BLUE EYES.

They are third cousins. It is not improper for them to marry. I never could understand why relatives want to marry.

Cleaning Jewelry.

To clean diamonds, wash them carefully with a brush dipped in soap suds to which a few drops of ammonia have been added. Dry by shaking in a small bag of bran, or jeweler's sawdust.

Gold ornaments should be cleaned in soap-suds and placed in jeweler's solution until quite dry. When dry rub with a clean cloth.

Silver ornaments can be brightened by washing in a hot bath of soda-suds and ammonia. Polished cloth will polish and after that has been done, after this place the article on a flannel and apply olive oil. Dry with a soft woolen cloth. Beards should not be washed at all, as water dries them.

ANDERSON BROS. WILL HAVE SCHOOL FOR SALESMANSHIP

At the banquet of officials and employees of The Anderson Bros. company, held Thursday evening on the first floor of the firm's store at Third and Chillicothe streets, it was announced that a school in salesmanship had been arranged for and the instructor would be E. C. (Jack) Hood.

All of the firm's sales people will take part in this school, the selling force having been divided into three classes, each class to receive a weekly lesson in salesmanship. The first lesson was given under the direction of Mr. Hood Friday morning and it worked out very satisfactorily. A regular school room has been fitted up on the third floor of the store, and the course in salesmanship is to be strongly featured by the company throughout this year.

"This means of increasing efficiency among the selling force has been successfully employed in practically all of the larger stores in the city, and we feel that we can adopt it with the same results," Mr. Hood stated Friday. "Every phase of salesmanship will be taken up, and the classes will no doubt profit greatly by these weekly meetings. Methods to close sales, to increase sales and to send customers away from the store in a satisfied frame of mind will be religiously pursued."

The banquet last night proved to be a delightful affair. P. V. Davidson, manager of the shoe store, acted as toastmaster and the principal speakers were W. B. Anderson, Warwick W. Anderson, Russell Anderson and E. C. Hood. Other guests made short talks and the affair was the biggest kind of a success. Trade producing suggestions fairly bounced off the festal board and Mr. Anderson, president of the company, feels sanguine that meetings of this kind will increase the efficiency of his working force in no small degree.

The banquet was served in three courses and the material was furnished by Adam Seal and Charles Grassman. Those seated around the festal board were as follows:

Helen Sprague, Nell Emmert, Gertrude Butler, Mabel Goodman, Elsie Wagner, Nell Kugelman, Mrs. Mary Smith, Kathryn Munt, Ella Ouster, Barbara Sheld, Tena Cook, Cook, it with the same results," Mr. Hood stated Friday. "Every phase of salesmanship will be taken up, and the classes will no doubt profit greatly by these weekly meetings. Methods to close sales, to increase sales and to send customers away from the store in a satisfied frame of mind will be religiously pursued."

Mothers Make This Home Made Cough Syrup

The good, tender, thoughtful mother can make a full pint of the quickest acting, permanent result giving cough syrup which can be used by the whole family for coughs and colds, thus preventing pneumonia, sore throat, diphtheria and other fatal maladies. Just obtain a concentrated fluid known as essence Menthio-Laxene—a 2½ oz. bottle, and empty it into a pint jar or bottle. Then take a pint of granulated sugar and pour over it a half pint of boiling water; stir, cool and fill up the bottle with the syrup. Full directions for making and using are contained on each package. All good druggists sell it, or it can readily be obtained of their chemist. Thousands of families are using this because of its cheapness and thoroughness. It contains no poisons or opiates.

Will Use Railroad

The Ashland, Ky., Independent Thursday said:

"No more trials and tribulations for the Yellow Poplar Lumber company in Coal Grove in the near future, by the condition of the Ohio river getting too low or on a rampage to prevent them getting timber, for most of the logs will be railroaded directly from the forests to the saws."

"The N. & W. have a force of about 100 men placing track into the plant and will soon be ready for use. The timber will then arrive by rail from the timber regions of West Virginia and Kentucky."

Parents Should Know This Splendid Remedy

Simple Laxative Compound Helps to Correct Constipation in Children.

With all children there are times when the bowels fail to act naturally and it becomes necessary for the parents to administer a remedy. Cathartics and purgatives should never be used as these agents afford only temporary relief while their violent action shocks the system unduly. Mrs. Eva F. Gaff, 517 10th St., Washington, D. C., says that her little girl, Marie, had been subject to constipation, and that she found Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin the best remedy because of its mildness, and now always keeps a bottle of it in the house.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a compound of simple laxative herbs, free from opiates or narcotic drugs of any kind, and is an ideal remedy for children because of its mild action and positive effect. Its use tends to strengthen the impaired bowel action and restore normal regularity. It is important that parents know of a dependable remedy with no unpleasant after effects, griping or strain. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin costs only fifty cents a bottle and can be procured at any drug store. To obtain a trial bottle, free of charge, write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 154 Washington St., Montreal, Canada.

Referendum No. 12, of the United States Chamber of Commerce, which proposes that Congress should be asked to suspend at once Sections 4, 13 and 14 of the Seamen's Act, which, it is alleged, discriminates against American ports and American ships, and which are restrictive of American commerce, until such time as by international agreement, the requirement of these sections can become equally applicable to the shipping of all nations, was received at the offices of the Board of Trade Friday morning.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets. These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Most headaches, "biliousness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lumpy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" the brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. ### THEATRICAL

A clever, snappy, entertaining vaudeville show is what Manager Lee of the New Sun theater offers for the last half of the week. This bill is above the average and the best show that has been offered patrons of the Sun this season.

The big feature of the bill is the Six Song Birds. This unusual act is something well worth hearing. The Song Birds are rightly named, and although young in years they make it all up in ability, for their number is very good. The singing and dancing of these youngsters offer a treat graceful in every movement and each a splendid singer, while the sixth member of this troupe is a splendid pianist. The balance of this bill is good, giving one a variety of entertainment that can't help but please. Daily and O'Brien are clever, and The Dolly Sisters present a musical and singing act that brought them rounds of applause. Ward and Faye, a couple of English Johnnies, offer some very clever eccentric dancing and have a monologue that's clever, indeed. Eugene Brothers were favorites with the people who attended the opening show and their work on the bar is very good. This is the bill that will please the people who like high-class vaudeville. Don't miss it.

May Robson Rejuvenates "Aunt Mary"

Local amusement seekers will be delighted to learn that May Robson is to give us an opportunity at the Sun theatre on Wednesday night February 2 of witnessing her delightful characterization of Aunt Mary in "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary." There is no question as to the merits of the offering for it is well known by even those who have the slightest knowledge of things theatrical to be a play that everybody enjoys. It is crammed full and running over with laughter and snappy lines and has some telling touches of pathos. Seat Sale Monday 9 a. m. Mail orders now.

A "Positive" Sale

— "Where frankness reveals your opportunity" —

Some things are marked at less than cost
Many others at actual cost to us
On a few items we'll make a profit

THERE WOULD BE MONEY IN IT FOR US IF WE HELD THESE goods over until next season, because as you know the fabric market is hitting the high spots, but money doesn't rule our store policy. When we say "Present season's goods only" we mean it for 1916 just as we did for 1915 regardless of conditions.

If you take advantage of the opportunity offered by this sale you will not only save money but learn a lesson in real value getting.

How You Benefit by This Idea

By "positive" we mean a sale of actual values—not merely an advertising scheme to get you into our store. We're not overstocked because we've had a fine business since early last Fall. Naturally we had to buy some things in larger quantities.

You know how people's tastes differ—how one likes this, another that. So we bought to please everybody and we succeeded. That meant buying more of some things than we actually needed, just to offer our trade a wider variety.

That's the reason for this Sale.

Quality, style and pattern measure up to our high standard of merchandise.

The price alone is lower.

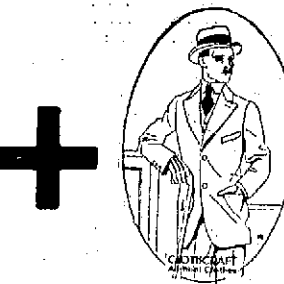

Come in and look around. Use your own judgement—the goods will sell themselves.

Remember the dates—January 29, to February 12, inclusive.

Would Welcome Babes With Open Arms

Chillicothe, Jan. 28.—"Will Chillicothe have another chance this summer," the News-Advertiser asked President Joe Carr of the Ohio State league, when he stopped here yesterday says the Chillicothe News-Advertiser.

"The Ohio State league will welcome Chillicothe with open arms," he replied. "Chillicothe will mean a great deal for the league if it gets in and gets in right. Half way measures, though, would best be left undone. It is up to the city to show the circuit that it means business."

"Already it is beginning to look good for baseball next summer," he said. "I have seen baseball, I have seen baseball and I have seen baseball, and when he gets fairly under way, there is no stopping him. The country had a re-lapse last year, but interest is beginning to crop out strong for next summer. Here in Chillicothe there is a golden opportunity for a couple of well known and respected young men, who could take the club and run it in a business like manner. There is no doubt that the club is against the franchise and everything is ready to start-off in good order. In 1914, the last full year of baseball here, the club's receipts were better than $16,000. In 1915 not a club in the circuit spent over $9,000 during the entire year. "The city needs baseball for a number of reasons," continued Carr. "For one thing it furnishes a source of amusement which Chillicothe certainly needs. Again, it helps business. No business man in the city will dispute this; and third, it advertises the town. We hope Chillicothe will kick in."

GAMES TONIGHT.
Submarines vs. Spiders, alleys 4 and 5.

By keeping everlastingly at it, those Clod Hoppers, who have been off around by various teams in the Masonic Bowling League, came to life at the Play House alleys last night and tripped up the Wurster Rexalls, two out of three on alleys 4 and 5. The splendid work of Edward Leach and Captain E. C. Jackson, put the Clod Hoppers over the fence in the first two games. It was then that the Rexalls whipped up and nosed out their opponents in the last game, thus saving themselves from a white wash. In this game the Rexalls went at a nice clip, and incidentally they hung up the largest score in the contest. The work of each Rexall was right up to the hands of the Clod Hoppers, who hit her up for 182 and was just as happy as though he had closed a ten thousand dollar real estate deal—in fact he will sacrifice his commission on a sale of that magnitude any time for a score of that proportion. By winning the lone game the Rexalls held onto fourth place for the first time. At the opening of the season, Captain George Wurster predicted that his team would finish in the first division. In the prediction line he is just like Charley Herzog of the Cincinnati Reds, only different—George made good.

Captain Jackson was out to win and he worked hard, spurring on his men at every possible stage. Heiford, lead off man, had his troubles in the first two games, when he worked like a horse to get 140. He came to life, however, in the last game, hanging up 184. Walter Wilhelm had one of his poorest nights, though he tried hard enough to make a million. He didn't do so bad in his second game, but wishes his other efforts could be blotted out of the book of remembrance. Charles Scudder, after a rather disastrous get-away, came to the front in rapid strides and finished with 164, a good score for a real good bowler, and one that the popular insurance man will remember as long as time lasts. As before stated Captain Jackson was in rare form and the fishing tale he changed into the wood for 189 at the very start, and while his other scores were not of top heavy variety, nevertheless his average was away above the 150 mark, which shows skill. Edward Leach was a bear cat for fair, and more than redeemed himself for his work of last week. He started hot—Wilhelm with 190, came right back with 174 and finished the work with 159—some work.

President W. J. Keyes was off form in his first two games, but came back like the thoroughbred he is and clipped off 161 as a final score. The excellent work of Merle Dudult has already been favorably commented upon. With Hazelbeck was like a ship without a rudder in his first two games, but that he has plenty of that good old nerve was conclusively demonstrated in his last game when he lacked but one pin of making 150. Captain Wurster had one good game, 189, and two that were not so good. However, his average was well up in the 160 straits, and that is going some. Pearl Crawford was only fair, although he scored heavily after a bad start. The score:

Clod Hoppers—
Bradford	143	117	181
Wilhelm	110	153	129
Scudder	103	122	164
Jackson	180	141	181
Leach	190	178	159
Totals	733	711	767

NOTES.
The scheduled game between the Giant Killers and Corn Shuckers, which was to have been rolled tonight, has been called off and will be played some evening next week.

The Spiders and Clod Hoppers will bowl off their postponed games on next Tuesday evening.

With the rolling of the above postponed games, the first half will officially come to a close and the big banquet will be pulled off. This banquet will be served in the Temple and the committee on arrangements consists of President W. J. Keyes, F. W. Sheridan, Playd Fuller and George Wurster. It promises to be a very fine affair indeed.

them win too. The score was 9 to 5 in favor of the "Blues". Mitchell was at his best and his fast playing won for the Blues. The score in full:

Blues	Pos.	Reds
Mitchell	C.	Hewitt
Haubert	1B.	Kenyon

Will Contest Claim

On December 29, last, judgment by default for $150 was awarded the Dalton Adding Machine company from Thomas Conroy, doing business as the Model Laundry, in Squire Finney's court, the defendant failing to appear.

Friday morning Mr. Conroy, through his attorneys, Bannion and Bannion and Meyer, entered an appeal in common pleas court from the decision in the lower court. He will contest the claim which the plaintiff claims is due it as a balance on an adding machine purchased by the defendant, the original cost of which was $264.51.

Cross Of Christ Outstanding Figure In Life's Advancement

—SAYS REV. HART.

Another large congregation gathered for the special services in the Kendall Avenue Baptist church last night. The enthusiastic manner in which the entire audience enters into the song service is interesting to behold. The large chorus choir gives a most helpful balance to the entire service each night.

The spirit of these meetings is of such a nature as to be the topic of conversation among those who attend from time to time. From the very first there has been no question but that the main purpose was to exalt the truth of the Word of God. Nothing of the questionable variety has been introduced among the methods in any of these services. The truth has been most plainly presented and each hearer left to make his own personal decision in accordance therewith. The call of God and the deceitfulness of Satan have been boldly declared night by night.

Last night the pastor, Rev. Wm. Hart, used John 3:14 and 15 as the text for his sermon, "The Appeal of the Cross." The closest possible attention was given to every word of his discourse which placed the cross of Christ as the central figure of life. He said in part:

"Look where you will, among any people whom you will, and you will find that the cross of Christ is the outstanding figure in their advancement in life. This centrality is not always acknowledged, nevertheless it is the vital force. The standard of life is gauged by the recognition or the rejection of the sacrifice for which the cross stands."

"God has in love for us and for our highest devotion removed from the human family the exact knowledge of the material things that entered into the sacrifice of Christ. They tell us that such a place is the supposed place where Jesus was crucified, but no one knows of a certainty. Here was where the body of Jesus was supposed to have been laid after his death, but no one knows. God has in mercy hidden these things out of our sight lest we have our vision obscured and fail to see that Jesus himself was the central figure in the provision for our salvation."

"There are many professing Christians who have used the cross as a place of rest and have not tried to lift up the Son of man. Jesus referred to His crucifixion as the necessary lifting up but beloved there is some lifting up yet to be done and that is for you to live up the cross where Jesus can be yet seen by the multitudes who need Him as their Savior. Souls are being slain by the serpent, the devil, and it is your business to keep the sacrifice of Christ in sight that they may be forgiven of the guilt of their sin."

"God has made the condition of salvation the very simplest that it could possibly be. 'Whosoever believeth' is that condition. No man got mad and went away in a rage when the prophet of God failed to permit him to buy his cleansing from leprosy. It took his quiet, level headed, servant to convince him that as simple a thing as was asked of him was worth the trial. God cannot find any merit in you for which he can give you forgiveness of sin in return, but he has made it far more easy and simple by asking of you to trust your soul's eternity to the care of his Son Jesus Christ. You say you wish to be a Christian but you fear you cannot hold out. God did not say 'Whosoever believeth and never makes a mistake.' He said 'believeth' is the condition. He will care for all that if you trust in Him. You trust the promises made to one another when at the very same time you know there are a thousand and one things that can come between that promise and its fulfillment; but God has never been known to fail in the fulfillment of a promise, and He never will."

"Will There Be a Judgment Day—If So What Will It Be Like?" is the topic for the sermon tonight. Special music will be a feature of tonight's services also.

Tooth Loose? Watch out for Pyorrhea!

When you find a tooth that gives back and forth, even just a little, see your dentist at once.

But Senreco does more. It cleanses the teeth delightfully. It gives them a whiteness distinctive of Senreco alone. Its flavor is entirely pleasing, and it leaves in the mouth a wonderful sense of coolness and wholesomeness.

Want Local Board To Make Suggestion About Building

The local Board of Trade is in receipt of a letter from the Ohio State Board of Commerce, similar to one that is being sent to civic bodies all over the state, asking for suggestions for carrying out the proposed plan to erect a new building to house state offices, for which there is not room in the present state-house.

In the letter, it is explained that heretofore suggestions have been received from Columbus people only, but the state body, believing that the project is one in which the taxpayers all over the state should have a voice, invite suggestions from all over the state.

The Building Commission, the letter says, has $600,000 to spend for grounds and building. Members of this commission have virtually decided that the plan to build an addition to the present state house is not acceptable, so three plans are offered:

First, the purchase of a site on Third street, opposite the state house, 107x187 feet, on which it is planned to build a twelve story building, of solid steel construction.

Second, the purchase of a site on Fourth street, one block from the state house, 312x187 1/2 feet, and the erection of a six or seven story building.

Third, the purchase of a site five blocks from the state house and the erection of a cheaper permanent building. This plan would entail an expenditure of $300,000.

Columbus people, the letter says, favor the purchase of a site near the state house and the erection of a modern office structure, conforming to the "Civic Center" idea of Columbus.

The Building Commission will meet in Columbus on February 15 to go over the different plans suggested. It is likely that the directors of the local Board will submit some recommendation along with the rest.

HIS SLEEP, "IS EVER LIGHT, FROM PURE DIGESTION BRED"

Blessed is the man who invented sleep. The solution of the proposition that one person can get ample and sufficient rest from a very few hours sleep, whereas another after hours awakes tired and in a lethargic condition, is in most instances a result of good digestion on the part of the one, and poor digestion on the part of the other.

In cases of catarrh of the stomach and its kindred troubles, the new medicine that has caused so much comment in this section, Tanlac, has been proven the most effective remedy for, and combatant of this disease.

The dealer here in Portsmouth who has spent forty years in the drug business, states that in all his experience, he has never known of anything similar to the quite universal satisfaction that this medicine is giving, or the enormous demand for it, having sold three thousand bottles of Tanlac within the past few weeks. Chas. Hamsley, one of Sciotoville's respected citizens says: "Nothing is too good to say of Tanlac. Two bottles of Tanlac has put me in good shape physically, having relieved me of indigestion, and nervousness, enabling me to sleep sound and awake refreshed."

Tanlac is an extract of herbs, roots and flowers gathered from many of the remote parts of the earth and compounded into this remarkable preparation by the noted German chemist, Trimbach.

Tanlac is popularly known as the "Master Medicine", and is now on sale at the "Tanlac Corner", Fisher & Strieck's Drug Store, Sixth and Chillicothe Sts., Portsmouth, where representatives direct from the laboratory are explaining Tanlac. Tanlac is also on sale by E. H. Coburn, Druggist, at New Boston.

Tanlac can now be obtained in Lucasville from Dr. J. H. Cox. At Ruggles, Ky., from H. A. Kiff's Drug Store, and in Fulton, Ky., at S. M. Roberson's Drug Store. Adv.

PORTSMOUTH MAN WRITES ABOUT FAMOUS OLD TIME CAMP MEETING

Portsmouth, O., Jan. 27, 1915.

Editor of Times:—In Wednesday's Gentleman—some one asks if any one could tell anything about the famous "Camp Meetings" which were conducted at "Big Run" now Wakefield.

The present scribe attended one year and I'll tell you there was "something doing" all of the time. My friend, Alf Yost, his mother and Mrs. Eliza Glidden, for many years a teacher in the Portsmouth public schools, heard the Rev. Mr. Strimatter (father of the present grain merchant) preach his wonderful discourse "The Philosophy of Salvation."

The Rev. A. G. Byrnes, he of blessed memory, said that it was the best exposition of the "truth" which he had ever heard, or words to that effect. Rev. Strimatter afterwards went as a missionary to China, and I think died there. We arrived at the Camp ground about 4 p. m. The first person that I met was my life-long friend, Clay Barnes, for just remember that Clay is a good deal like "Old Beer Cool," who never neglected being present at Camp Meetings or any place else where "sinners" and ginger bread was in evidence. My friend, the late Dr. A. B. Richardson, a great authority in mental diseases, was also there. Understand that was before he was a doctor, in fact, we were all students at that time.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Rice have returned to their home in Ironton after a short visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Slaughter on West Grace street.

Robert Davis, son of Mayor Davis, is recovering from grip.

Mrs. Elza Lutz, of Ohio avenue, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, was reported improved Friday.

Mrs. Alice Fry, of Trinity, Ky., returned home after a visit with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jas. Fry, for it occurred to him that if he applied the lotion and his hair should start to grow and continued he might not be able to stop it, and then he would be smothered. That is what he told the man at least. Frank Thompson and the lady he afterwards married were there, and so was my life-long friend, the late William Waller. The meetings were held in September and of course the weather was warm and pleasant during the day, but at night and particularly early "September Morn" we got chilled, that is those of us who had to sleep in our vehicles, and whereas Mr. Yost and I had found a sleeping place for the ladies at a farm house, we remained in the express wagon, and were chilled through. Fortunately for us a man with his family loaded into an ox wagon drove in about midnight. They had plenty of bed clothing and they all slept in the wagon, and in the night Alf and I borrowed some quilts and some blankets, they did not know that however, until daylight, but they were not displeased and invited us to a breakfast of fried chicken and cold ham with hot coffee, cold biscuits and pickles. The service usually began at sunrise. There was prayer and experience meeting lasting until 9 o'clock at which time the "Love Feast" was held, which lasted until 11 at which time some "powerful sermonizer" would preach for an hour or two, and then some other brother preacher would continue with the same text and supplement and emphasize all that the first preacher had said, and then when the second one was exhausted another would take the same theme and amplify all that the two preceding brothers had said, and I want to tell you that the analysis would convince any man who could sit it out with the fact that there was a good deal more in the "Old Fashion Religion" than just exhortation. Lots and lots of men went to sneer, but remained to pray.

"Higher Christianity" was unknown on that camp ground, and the doctrine promulgated by the Wesleys of "Full Salvation" to a dying world who would accept "Grace" was all that you heard from the pulpit. The Rev. Albert G. Byrnes, a kinsman of Jim Spencer, and who by the way was the "Very spit and image" of Chas. the ball player, was often in evidence. In his youth before he had been converted he had been the very embodiment of evil and led all of the quadrills in the communities where he had lived, but when he joined the church he began to preach, and his theme usually was "Behold I stand at the door and knock, if any man hear my voice and open the door I will come and sup with him, and he with me." There was no irreverence in a word he uttered, there was no vulgarity, and he didn't take off his coat, nor froth at the mouth, nor say "there is bug house in hell tonight", but when he referred to "hell" you thought that is the very last place you would choose to live, and most of the people who heard him were willing to fly to that mourners' bench and remain there until they were satisfied that "all of their sins had been washed away in the blood of the lamb." I'll tell you more about that Camp Meeting when I find a little leisure.

Witness At Greenup

Ray Coburn, deputy county auditor, was summoned to Greenup Friday to testify in a case in court there.

Mistake Made

(Contributed)
The person who wrote about the Free Will Baptist Conference meeting at 1234 Front street where Rev. C. L. Diamond is pastor made a slight mistake, it being the fourth Saturday and Sunday in February instead of the second. We are doing a good work here and all are invited and are welcome at all times. The Lord is working wonderful in our little church.

Mrs. Kate Matz Miller of Cobden, Ill. says: "... I was troubled with irregularity... headache... severe pains in the back and felt tired all over... I thought I would try CARDUI and found it did me so much good. I have none of these troubles any more... My mother had been suffering with different ailments, due to change in life... headache all the time. She began to take CARDUI, taking about five bottles... and she is not troubled with those old ailments any more... I only wish I could induce all sick women to try it and be convinced as I have been." Why don't you try CARDUI? It may be just what you need.

PRESIDENT PLUNGES INTO PREPAREDNESS CAMPAIGN WEARING FIGHTING TOGS

Washington, Jan. 28.—Presi- dent Wilson returned from New York at 7:15 a. m. today. He went immediately to the White House.

The president planned a busy day finishing up pressing pub- lic business prior to departing to- night for Pittsburgh and the mid- die west to deliver a series of speeches on national defense. He is anxious that the "speeding up" process in congress be well under way before his return Feb- ruary 4.

The president saw several sen- ators and representatives on leg- islative matters but the usual Friday cabinet meeting was can- celed.

He expected to see Secretary Lansing, however, to discuss for- eign questions. During the presi- dent's trip Mr. Lansing will keep him informed constantly of all important developments in the in- ternational situation. Before de- parting tonight the president and Mrs. Wilson will attend a dinner given in their honor by Secretary and Mrs. McAdoo.

The president will deliver the first address of his western trip in Pittsburgh tomorrow. He will speak in Cleveland tomorrow night, in Milwaukee Monday; in Chicago Monday night; in Des Moines Tuesday; in Topeka Wed- nesday; in Kansas City Wednes- day night; in St. Louis Thursday morning and will return home Friday afternoon. He will speak from the platform of his car in many towns through which he will pass.

On the trip west he will be ac- companied by Mrs. Wilson, Sec- retary Tamm, Dr. C. T. Grayson, the White House physician, two stenographers, a telegrapher and an unusually large corps of secret service men. He will at- tend no banquets or social affairs but will devote practically the en- tire trip to speaking and travel- ing. Dr. Grayson said today the president is in good physical con- dition for the tour.

New York, Jan. 28.—President Wilson last night opened his per- sonal appeal to the country for na- tional defense. He gave warning that plans for the readjustment of the army must be formulated and carried out without delay, and he only declared he could not predict that the outlook for the United States would be as bright as it is today.

Speaking at a banquet of the Railway Business Association and the Motion Pic- ture Board of Trade, he sounded the keynote of addresses that he will deliver during the next ten days in the Middle West.

Mr. Wilson was in a fighting mood throughout his address. In- stead of the placid, deliberate manner he declared he always ac- cepted an invitation to fight. He told the railroad men he was an advocate of peace and he had struggled to keep the United States at peace, but he considered the liberty and honor of the na- tion even more important than peace.

"We to any man who plays unpar- lot or who seeks to make party politics or personal ambition take precedence over candor, honor, and unselfishness, unpar- tisan service," said the President, in speaking of his defense plan, before the railroad men. He de- clared the country expects action.

"This is a year of accounting and the accounting must be definite on the part of parties and on the part of every individual who wishes to enjoy the public confidence.

"For my part I hope every man in public life will get what's com- ing to him," said Mr. Wilson amid laughter.

The President admitted that in a message to the last Congress he had said the need for preparedness was not pressing. He declared that he had learned something in the meantime. He cited his recent support of a tariff commission as another instance of a change on his part but declared that pre- viously there was no need for such a committee. The business men enthusiastically cheered his sup- port of the commission.

Mr. Wilson spoke of men of high character who were clouding the preparedness issue. He de- clared they were provincial and the United States could no longer hold itself off from the rest of the world.

He asserted that to invade Mex- ico would mean the losing of the confidence of the rest of the West- ern hemisphere. He cited the freeing of Cuba as an instance of good done by the United States.

"If we are drawn into the maelstrom which now surges in Europe," the President declared, "we shall not be permitted to do the high things we would prefer."

The President defended the continental army plan drawn up by Secretary Garrison, and said that he did not care about the de- tails of any plan as long as 500, 000 trained men were provided as reserves under the Federal gov- ernment. He advocated strength- ening the National Guard, but said the Constitution itself put the guard under the state. He added that the United States will not turn in the direction of militar- ism.

Outlining why the United States should prepare, Mr. Wilson said we must protect our rights as a nation and the rights of our citi- zens in America and outside of it as the conscious of civilized peo- ple have defined them; must en- sure the unembarrassed realiza- tion of our political development within our own borders, and must protect the peace and political autonomy.

Industrial preparedness, with the military training students in industrial schools was proposed by the president. He left consid- eration of navy plans for later addresses.

Business men who formerly re- lied on protective measures in their dealings with foreign pow- ers were criticized by Mr. Wilson. He said American business men should be able to hold their own against the world.

In his address at the Railway Association banquet President Wilson said:

"We live in a world which we did not make, which we cannot alter, which we cannot think into a different condition from that which actually exists. It would be a hopeless piece of provincial- ism to suppose that, because we think differently from the rest of the world, we are at liberty to as- sume that the rest of the world will permit us to enjoy that thought without disturbance.

"In all the belligerent coun- tries, men without distinction of party, have drawn together to accomplish a successful prosecu- tion of the war. Is it not a more difficult and a more desirable thing that all Americans, should put partisan prepossession aside and draw together for the success- ful prosecution of peace? I covet that distinction for America, and I believe that America is going to enjoy that distinction.

"Only the other day the leader of the Republican minority in the House of Representatives deliv- ered a speech that showed that he was ready, and I take it for granted that the men behind him were ready, to forget party lines in order that all men may act with a common mind and impulse for the service of the country. And I want, upon this first public occasion, to pay my tribute of re- spect and obligation to him.

"Think of the position into which America has been drawn, almost in spite of herself, by the circumstances of the present day. She alone is free to help find things wherever they show them- selves in the world. And she is forced, also, whether she will or not, in the decades immediately ahead of us, to furnish the world with its chief economic guidance and assistance."

"It is very fine to remember that ideals will be back of that assistance. Economic assistance in itself is not necessarily hand- some. It is a legitimate thing to make money. Money brings with it power, which may be well or ill employed. And it should be the pride of America always to em- ploy her money to the highest pur- pose. And yet, if we are drawn into the maelstrom that now surges across the water and swirls even in the western regions of the world we shall not be permitted to keep a free hand to the high things that we intend to do. And it is necessary that we should examine ourselves and so order that we can make certain that the tasks imposed upon us will be per- formed, and well performed.

"America has been reluctant to match her wits with the rest of the world. When I face a body of men like this, it is almost in- credible to remember that only yesterday they were afraid to put their wits into free competition with the world. The best brains in the world are afraid to match brains with the rest of the world. We have preferred to be provin- cial. We have preferred to stand behind protection devices. And now we are thrust out to do, on a scale never dreamed of in recent generations in America, the busi- ness of the world.

"We can no longer be a pro- vincial nation.

"Let no man dare to say, if he would speak the truth, that the question of preparation for na- tional defense is a question of war or of peace.

"If there is one passion more deep seated in the hearts of our fellow countrymen than another it is the passion for peace. No nation in the world ever more in- stinctively turned away from the thought of war than this nation to which we belong. Partly be- cause, in the plenitude of its power in the untroubled area of its opportunities it has found nothing to covet in the procession and power of other nations.

"There is no spirit of aggran- dizement in America. There is no desire on the part of any thoughtful and conscientious American man to take one foot of territory from any nation in the world. And I myself share to the bottom of my heart that pro- found love for peace. I have sought to maintain peace against very great and sometimes very unfair odds and I am ready, at any time, to use every power that is in me to prevent such a catas- trophe as war coming upon this country.

Bound To Principles

"So that it is not permissible for any man to say that the de- fense of the nation has the least tinge in it of desire for power which can be used to bring on war. But, gentlemen, there is something that the American people love better than they love peace. They love the principles upon which their political life is founded. They are ready at any time to fight for the vindication of their character and of their honor. They will at no time seek a con- test, but they will at no time cravenly avoid it. Because, if there is one thing that the coun- try ought to fight for, and that every nation ought to fight for, it is integrity of its own convictions. We cannot surrender our con- victions. I would rather surren- der territory than surrender those ideals, which are the staff of life for the soul itself. And because we hold certain ideals, we have thought it was right we should hold them for others as well as for ourselves.

"And whether by one process or another we have made cur- selves in some sort the champions of free government and national sovereignty in both continents of this hemisphere. So that there are certain obligations, which every American knows, that we have undertaken. The first and primary obligation is the mainte- nance of the integrity of our own sovereignty—which goes as of course. There is also the main- tenance of our liberty to develop our political institutions without hindrance and last of all there is the determination and the obligation to stand as the strong brother of all those in this hemisphere who will maintain the same prin- ciples and who will follow the same ideals of liberty.

Caution As To Mexico

"May I venture to insert here a parenthesis? Have any of you thought of this? We have slowly, very slowly, indeed, begun to win the confidence of the other states of the American hemisphere. If we should go into Mexico do you know what would happen? The sympathy of the rest of America would look across the water and not northward, to the great re- public which we profess to repre- sent.

"And do you not see the conse- quences that would ensue in ev- ery international relationship? Have the gentlemen who have rushed down to Washington to insist that we should go into Mexico, reflected upon the polit- ics of the world? Nobody seri- ously supposes, gentlemen, that the United States needs to fear an invasion of its own territory. What it has to fear, if she has anything to fear, are indirect, roundabout flank movements, up- on her regnant position in the western hemisphere. Are we go- ing to open those gates, or are we going to close them? For they are the gates to the hearts of our American friends to the south of us, and not the gates to the ports. Win their support and you have the only sort of leader- ship and the only sort of safety that America covets. We must all of us think, gentlemen, in terms of the world and must learn what it is that America has not set out to maintain as a standard bearer for all those whose liberty and justice and the righteousness of political action.

"But gentlemen, we must find means to do this thing which are suitable to time. Does anybody understand the time? Perhaps when you learned as I dare say you did learn beforehand, that I was expecting to address you on the subject of preparedness, you recalled the address which I made to congress something more than a year ago, in which I said that this question of military preparedness was not a pressing question. But more than a year has gone by since then, and I would be ashamed if I had not learned something in fourteen months. The minute I stop changing my mind as president, with the change of all the cir- cumstances in the world I will be a back number.

"There is another thing about which I have changed my mind. A year ago I was not in favor of a tariff board and I will tell you why.

"Because the only purpose of a tariff board was to keep alive an unprofitable controversy. If you set up any board of inquiry whose purpose it is to keep business disturbed, and to make it al- ways an open question what you are going to do about the public policy of the government, I am opposed to it. There is a great deal more opinion voiced in this world that is consistent with logic.

"But the circumstances of the present time are these: There is going on in the world, under our eyes, an economic revolution. I hear a great many things predict- ed about the end of the war, but I don't know anything about what is going to happen when the war is over, and neither do you.

"What I am trying to impress on you is that the circumstances of the world today are not what they were yesterday, or what they were in any of our yester- days and that it is not certain what they will be tomorrow. I cannot tell you what the interna- tional relations of this country will be tomorrow and I use the word literally. And I would not dare keep silent and let the coun- try suppose that tomorrow was certain to be bright as today.

America Never Aggressor

"America will never be the ag- gressor; America will always seek to the last point at which her honor is involved, to avoid things which disturb the peace of the world. But America does not control the circumstances of the world. It goes without saying that one thing this country never will endure in a system that can be called militarism.

"America is always going to use her army in two ways. She is going to use it for the purpose of peace and she is going to use it as a nucleus for expansion into those things which she does be- lieve in, namely, the preparedness of her citizens to take care of themselves.

"There are two sides to the question of preparation: There is not merely the military side, there is the industrial side. And the ideal which I have in mind is this, gentlemen: We ought to have in this country a great sys- tem of vocational and industrial training, under federal guidance, and with federal aid, in which a large percentage of the country will be given training in the skillful use and application of the principles of science in man- uer and business and it will be perfectly possible and highly de- sirable to add that, and combine with it, such a training in the sanitation of the camp, in the simpler forms of maneuver and organization as will take these same industrially efficient and industrially serviceable for na- tional defense.

"The point about such a sys- tem will be that its emphasis will lie on the industrial and civil side of life and that like all the rest of America, the use of force will only be in the background, and as the last resort.

Will Take Time

"But gentlemen, you cannot create such a system over night. It has got to be built up; and I hope it will be built up by slow and effective stages, and there is something to be done in the meantime. We must see to it that a sufficient body of citizens is given the kind of training which will make them efficient for call into the field in case of necessity.

"What we need is a body of men trained in association with units of the army, a body of men organized under the immediate direction of the national authorities, a body of men subject to the immediate call to arms of the national authority and yet any excuse. The goods must be de- livered though the confidence will not be enjoyed, and for my part I hope every man in public life will get what is coming to him."

YOU MUST TAKE GOD'S WAY SAYS EVANGELIST

FINE SERMON AT UNION REVIVAL; MORE PRAYING IS URGED ON PEOPLE

(By Milford Keyes)

"Be Ye Reconciled Unto God." That was the evangelist's text last night, found in 2nd Corinthians, 5th chapter and 22nd verse. It means, he said, that we must give up our own way and think God's thoughts. "If you have mortgaged your soul to the devil it is because you have preferred to have your own way, would not hearken to the call of the spirit within you; would not recognize the right of way for Christ in your soul and life," he said.

No man is so far gone in sin, he said, that the door will not be opened to him if he will but come and knock. It is simply a case of not recognizing and acting upon the privileges that were ours from the beginning. "We darken our own lives and stand in our own light, are unhappy and of no account in life, and all because we do not grasp the hand that is stretched out to us," he said.

The evangelist believed in prayer and more prayer. He said these should be more prayer in the meetings now being held. People should pray as they sit in the pews. Prayer is not necessarily expressed in words.

Notes.

L. W. Bragdon was in his place in the choir last night, having been away from town for a few days. He went to Richmond, Ky., on business and then went over to Lexington for his semi-annual visit to his former partner, Mr. Purcell. He says Methodism is a healthy growth in the Blue Grass region.

Bigelow was quite in evidence last night. Rev. Chandler was there, of course, full of zeal and magnetism. R. Baxter Cunningham, the pious manipulator of electricity at the Selby plant, was there, and his church working ted to throw snow and powdered ice in his Blue Grass face. Bragdon, minus the wife feature, told of similar experience on the frozen river at Milwaukee. Both gentlemen told the reporter not to put this in the paper. Well, it hasn't passed "the desk" yet.

E. F. Rideout, who was chief of ushers at the Sunday tabernacle, was asked by a reporter to call the boys together in a reunion, and such an event may take place. There were one hundred and sixty of them, eighty on duty at a time, on alternate nights. Perhaps half that number could be gotten together. Many are on the railroad, some have moved away and some have crossed the dark river. Among those were Henry Smith, of revered memory.

John A. Stephens, the popular janitor of Trinity church, is performing his duties faithfully and his work is duly appreciated by the audience. Trinity is a large church to properly handle in winter, but the heat is kept at an even temperature, even in our changeable climate and there is no complaint of drafts, or excess of deficiency of heat.

Evangelist Reed is a muscular man, and as he springs lightly from the floor to the platform one is impressed with the idea that he wouldn't be a safe proposition to tackle in a flat way. It is a case of "Christian muscularity" rather than "muscular Christianity."

Mrs. Reed and the Aylesworth sisters will conduct the women's meeting at Bigelow Sunday afternoon, and Mr. Reed will address the men at Trinity at the same hour. This may be the last men's meeting, and a large attendance is desired.

The Epworth league members of all the Methodist churches are doing their part at the meetings, also the "camp fire girls" and the members of the men's bible classes. J. H. Finney, teacher of the men's bible class of Trinity and Charles Bridwell, vice-president, seem never to miss a meeting, and are on hand at the shop meetings.

Union revival meetings are not unknown in Portsmouth, but this is the first time that a union of the churches of one particular denomination have attempted anything of the kind. Five years ago the Methodist, Presbyterian, Baptist and Christian churches held union services for several weeks, and great work was done. The meetings were held around among the different churches, the various pastors taking their turns at preaching. No evangelist was employed.

Great Day Planned For Sunday; Many Meetings Scheduled

(By Alfred Stewart)

Thursday evening found a goodly attendance at the Union meeting being held at Trinity. The song service preceding the sermon was especially helpful and inspiring. Besides the songs by the chorals and the audience the Aylesworth sisters sang very beautifully and Prof. Grant in his usual pleasant manner, sang "Jesus Will Save You."

Rev. Reed announced that for tomorrow prayer meetings would not be held as usual, but instead every one should do personal work. There will be no meetings Saturday. Sunday morning the evangelist will deliver his sermon "The Best Thing In The World." Friday afternoon at 3-45 there will be a meeting for boys and girls at Trinity. It was emphasized that this meeting is for boys and girls and not for adults.

The sermon which follows, was short but very forceful. The text was taken from I Cor. 5:20: "Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us. We pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God."

It means give up your own way and let God have His way. Quit being what you want to be and be what God wants you to be. The old life must be given up. If you are going to be a Christian you must turn your back upon the old life. A lot of people have stood up and said the Methodist church for me, or the Baptist church for me, but wouldn't it be a wonderful thing if everyone here could stand up tonight and say "Christ for me?" If everyone would say, "From this day I will swear allegiance to Thee, oh Christ, from this day I will give up all my past. From this day I will be against sin, public or private." I say, wouldn't it be a wonderful thing?

"How sad it is for a child to be

Oh that every one in this church tonight could say from this time on, "Thou shalt be my King. From this time Thou shalt be my light, my way. From this time on I will think Thy thoughts and walk in Thy ways."

The Union Epworth League meetings held at Trinity each Sunday evening are proving very helpful. The first meeting was led by Rev. Chandler, of Bigelow. Last Sunday evening Rev. A. L. Marting, of Fourth Street M. E. church, gave a very inspiring talk. Next Sunday evening Rev. W. T. Gilliland, of Manly, will lead. All Epworthians are invited to attend these meetings. They are held in the basement of the church beginning promptly at six o'clock.

ATTY. B. F. KIMBLE SUFFERS BROKEN JAW IN AN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Fracture of the lower left jaw, a badly cut cheek and bruises to his left leg were suffered by Attorney B. F. Kimble of the well known legal firm of Attorneys Blair and Kimble in a regrettable automobile accident, which took place at Ninth and Grimes avenue at 9:50 Thursday evening.

Just as Mr. Kimble went to step from his machine to get his glasses in the office of Dr. Walter Brumlin on Ninth street he was struck by the windshield or steel rod that holds up the "one man top" of a machine owned and driven by Harry Shaw, N. & W. machinist residing with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Shaw of 1553 Ninth street and was hurled to the street. Luckily the hood of the machine did not hit Mr. Kimble or the accident would have been even more serious than it was.

Mr. Shaw, who was driving east on Ninth street, assisted in taking Mr. Kimble to Dr. Brumlin's office, where it was soon discovered that his lower left jaw had been fractured and a facial injury severed. Dr. J. E. Rogers was called and he and Dr. Brumlin attended Mr. Kimble, who was later removed to his home, 1920 Hutchins street, in Dr. Rogers' machine as quickly as possible and did all he could to assist Mr. Kimble. He was driving several friends home on the Hilltop when the accident took place. Mr. Shaw deeply regretted the accident as it is the first one he has had since he purchased his new car.

Mr. Kimble rested fairly well last night. His injuries are quite serious and will confine him to his home for a week or ten days. He drove his car to the Second Presbyterian church last evening after finishing up some work in his office and was met there by Mrs. Kimble and two children, Lawrence and Bernice. Mrs. Kimble had attended choir practice at this church.

DIDN'T WAVE KNIFE

"Boys, I'll not have a corn knife before you this morning," said Mayor Kaps at the adjournment of police court Friday morning. "If I did, it would be sure to get in the papers," he added.

The session of police court was brief, being confined to the examination of three plain drunks and one man arrested for begging. Eugene Fuller, of New Boston, Frank Shafer, of Wellston, and William Meeklin, of Pike county, each pleaded guilty to drunkenness and were fined $5 and costs each. James Ryan, of Covington, Ky., who pleaded guilty to begging, drew a fine of $10 and costs.

HUNTINGTON POSTMASTER HAS RESIGNED; J. HARVEY LONG, NEWSPAPER MAN, IS CHOSEN AS DINGESS' SUCCESSOR

Jerry W. Dingess has resigned as postmaster of Huntington, W. Va.

The new postmaster will be Col. J. Harvey Long, of the Huntington Advertiser.

Official announcement to this effect reached Huntington Thursday from U. S. Senator William E. Chilton.

Concerning the change in postmasters the Huntington Herald Dispatch Friday morning said:

The announcement of the change at the post office was made to the Herald-Dispatch by Assistant District Attorney P. W. McCallough, who said:

"Senator Chilton has authorized me to state that Mr. Dingess has resigned as postmaster, and that Senator Chilton has recommended Mr. J. H. Long as his successor. The senator also authorized me to say that the appointment is a personal recommendation to Mr. Long and a recognition of his lifelong standing as a Democrat. The appointment has been made on the recommendation of Democrats of Cabell county."

Up until a late hour Thursday evening only a very few knew of these big moves in Democratic politics in Huntington, and while, when Col. Long departed Wednesday evening for Washington to confer with Senator Chilton, it was realized that important developments were impending, it was not until 7:20 o'clock last evening that Mr. McCallough, after a conversation over long distance telephone with Senator Chilton, stated that he was able to make the announcement as quoted above.

By those familiar with local Democratic politics it is said to be a tardy, but deserved recognition of Col. Long for his years of faithful service to the Democratic party.

Mr. Dingess, it is understood, will in the future devote his time entirely to the local office of the Columbus Heating & Ventilating Company, with which he was connected before he became postmaster. Mr. Dingess' resignation was occasioned, it is added, by his belief that his best interests were in the direction of devoting more attention to the heating and ventilating business. Mr. Dingess left Monday to spend several weeks in Florida, after sending in his resignation. Mr. Dingess has been postmaster for the past year and a half, and there would be two years and one-half in his unexpired term.

With the announcement today that Col. Long is to attain his ambition and the ambition of his friends for him, it is well within the bounds of probability to assume that this will be the liveliest day in recent months in Democratic politics for to many the announcement will come as a bomb-shell. To get a proper perspective of the story it is necessary to go back a couple of years, when, after the election of President Wilson there arose the question of a postmaster for Huntington. Col. Long, among others, was then quite favorably mentioned and even urged upon Senator Chilton as a logical appointee. It was not the desire of the gods of politics, however, that Mr. Long should be so honored, and so the plum dropped into the hat of Mr. Dingess, who had come to the city only a few years before from Lincoln county. These events, as is known, only served to enhance a coolness that had arisen between Mr. Chilton and some of the leading Democrats of Cabell.

At divers times in recent months it had been rumored that Senator Chilton was ready to extend the olive branch, but these rumors usually disappeared into the air without any tangible developments. It is regarded as doubtful, however, by close observers of the local situation, whether even the appointment of Col. Long, despite his close friendship with Hon. George I. Neal, the local Democratic czar, will serve to heal the Neal-Chilton breach of some years' standing.

Sensor Chilton is an avowed candidate for the Democratic nomination for the United States senate and will likely receive the Democratic nomination, his friends say, without the necessity of fighting a rival candidate in his own party. Thus, in the normal trend of events, Senator Chilton, after receiving the Democratic party's nomination, it was to be anticipated, would be assured also of the support of Col. Long and his newspaper. Thus, say friends of Senator Chilton, the appointment of Col. Long is not to be construed to mean that Senator Chilton is angling for the support of Col. Long's newspaper, as the senator would not need to angle for something he would get anyway. In fact, emphasis is laid on the statement that "no strings whatsoever" are attached to the appointment, but that it is a deserved compliment to a veteran Democrat, some of the friends of whom have long been away from the pie-eater. At the same time, it is added, there can be no doubt that the coolness between the Kanawha statesman and the Cabell editor will be somewhat abated.

What attitude will be taken by friends of Mr. Long and by that local, or himself, is a political problem, the solution of which Mr. Neal hasn't yet seen fit to give out, save to his most intimate friends. Some of Mr.

Neal's followers profess at least to be surprised at the strange turn of events, but no doubt they will wait for their leader to interpret for them the attitude of Senator Chilton. But not even by the most optimistic is it imagined that the appointment means a burial of the hatchet between the rival Democratic clans.

Friends of Col. Long state that he is eminently qualified for the position as he is rated as one of the foremost business men of the city. For the past twenty years he has been editor and owner of the Huntington Advertiser, and its policy has been consistently Democratic.

He was born in Lebanon county, Pennsylvania, in 1863, and has been a resident of this city for nearly three decades.

In Huntington he has devoted his business energies almost entirely to the operation of his newspaper and its subsidiary printing establishments, and in this he has been eminently successful. Col. Long is a Shriner and member of the Knights Templar, a leading figure in the Chamber of Commerce, and prominent in the civic and artistic ambitions of the city. During late years The Advertiser has been published under the name of J. H. Long & Son and it is understood that when Col. Long assumes the duties of postmaster, the active management of the newspaper will be placed in the hands of his eldest son, Luther Thompson Long, who is well equipped for the position through years of experience.

BAY CASE IS CONTINUED

Ironton, O., Jan. 28.—Captain William Bay, charged with the murder of Basil Kitts, of Cold Branch, Ky., withdrew his motion for a change of venue in the Greenup county court yesterday and a continuance of the case until the July term of court was mutually agreed upon by the attorneys for the Commonwealth, Messrs. Coldiron and Nichols and Attorneys Johnson, Ilger and Willis for the defendant.

The hearing on the Bay motion was the only one that came before the court yesterday and it consumed quite a great deal of time.

Twenty-five witnesses for the Commonwealth testified that to the extent of their knowledge and belief Capt. Bay would be accorded a fair and just trial in Greenup county and at the conclusion of this testimony the defendant withdrew the motion and the continuance was agreed to.

With the six holdovers, the board now is composed of seventeen directors instead of twelve in the past.

that an initiation will be held again next Thursday evening, when five candidates will be taken into the order. A degree team is being formed, headed by W. J. Welby, which will take an active part in the initiatory work of the future.

COURT MARTIAL OF OFFICERS MAY RESULT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—Court-martial of three American army officers—Lieutenants Peyton, Mort and Waldron—who led a detachment of soldiers into Mexico to rescue two comrades who had been captured by armed Mexicans near Brownsville, Texas, probably will result, if an investigation proves that they probably would be held responsible for the death of four members of the rescue party who were drowned in the Rio Grande while returning from the expedition.

Secretary Garrison said positive orders had been given army officials not to cross the boundary line without instructions from Washington.

Prompt action on the part of the Carranza authorities in returning the two captured American soldiers unharmed was regarded here as indicative of a desire to prove their innocence and to show good-will toward the United States.

WANT CORPORATION LINE EXTENDED TO SCIOTOVILLE

Editor Times:—Kindly permit Sciotoville, through the medium of The Times to say a word in regard to the incorporation of the town of Sciotoville, as it is now planned and described as in incorporated, is simply an exhibition of lack of ordinary common judgment and cannot be endorsed by any one interested in the town as a whole.

There exists such opposition and contempt for the course pursued as to engender the greatest degree of ill feeling among its citizens. The taxpayers and representative class of citizens are now insisting on circulating petitions to be presented to the city of Portsmouth asking her to extend her corporation line to the little Scioto river, at least, thus taking in Sciotoville, Tonnawanda, Long Meadow, Martinsburg, Callico Hill and going east far enough to take in Linwood, the C. & O. Northern Railroad right of way, etc.

With this very judicious and practical plan all the needs of our community can be taken care of. Then we can all be mutually benefited. Then we will have lights, water, sidewalks, police service, and best of all, men with ordinary business judgment to use the money paid in by the taxpayers and thus avoid the baronies whose sole object is to hold a petty office look wise and pile up taxes. We have talked with many prominent business men of Portsmouth and find the sentiment very strongly in favor of the above proposition.

It is the opinion of the majority of the residents inside the prescribed boundary of the portion of Sciotoville proposed to be incorporated, and at least eighty per cent of the property value that the idea should be abandoned as a sane proposition—and the sentiment is growing against it. For don't you see when we go into Portsmouth we get everything, even five cent street car fare, besides our taxes are too high now.

Respectfully,
A WIDOW.

WOMEN! TRY IT!

Save five dollars by dry cleaning everything at home with gasoline.

It is very easy and inexpensive to dry clean and brighten all the ribbons, laces, yokes, neckties, silks, net work, satins, shirtwaists, kid gloves and shoes, furs, children's clothes, suits, caps, woolen garments, fancy vests, Swiss lawn, organdie, and chiffon dresses, draperies, rugs, in fact, any and everything that would be ruined with soap and water.

Get two ounces of solvent at any drugstore and put it in two gallons of gasoline, where it immediately dissolves. Then immerse the goods to be cleaned; rub a little and out they come looking bright and fresh as new. You will find nothing fades, shrinks or wrinkles, requiring no pressing.

These few moments' work saves any household five to ten dollars. Try it and you will find dry cleaning just as easy as laundering. Your grocer or any garage will supply the gasoline and the drug store will furnish the solvent, which is simply a gasoline soap. Then a wash boiler or large tub can completely your home dry cleaning outfit.

As gasoline is very inflammable, be sure to do your dry cleaning out of doors or in a room away from fire or flame, with the windows left open.

BANDITS TORTURE WOMAN TO FORCE A SECRET

Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 28.—Efforts of three bandits last night to force Mrs. Geo. Riggs to reveal the whereabouts of valuables in her home on Hubbard's Branch in Wayne county failed, according to reports here.

The bandits sought to torture Mrs. Riggs, who is the wife of a well known merchant of Ceredo. They tied her hands behind her back, stuffed rags into her mouth, and tried to choke her in an attempt to make her tell them where there was money in her home. She told them there was no money in the house. Mrs. Riggs was unstrung after the attack and could not give a coherent recital of her experiences. She escaped from her bonds while the robbers ransacked the house and friends notified her husband at Ceredo.

Mrs. Riggs was alone at the time the bandits forced an entrance to her home.

FEAR LINER APPAM IS LOST

300 ABOARD MISSING SHIP

London, Jan. 28.—Grave anxiety is felt regarding the British steamship Appam, which left Dakar for Plymouth on Jan. 11, with 166 passengers and 134 in the crew. When about four days out wireless communication with the vessel suddenly ceased. A despatch from Hull to Lloyds says that the British steamship Tregantle reports having passed at sea on January 16, a lifeboat with the name Appam painted on the stern and the bow knocked away.

For several days past concern has been manifested in shipping circles regarding the fate of the Appam, many days overdue on a ten day trip from Dakar in the French colony of Senegal, West Africa, for Plymouth. In the insurance market hope was nearly abandoned and it was difficult to effect re-insurances.

Two or three other steamships coming in the same direction as the Appam are also overdue.

Among the 166 passengers on board the Appam, were Colonial officials.

The Appam of 7,781 tons gross, 425 feet long, and 57 feet beam was built in 1913 by Harland and Wolff at Belfast, Ireland. She was owned by the British and African Steamship Navigation Company.

HUNTINGTON POSTMASTER HAS RESIGNED; J. HARVEY LONG, NEWSPAPER MAN, IS CHOSEN AS DINGESS' SUCCESSOR

Jerry W. Dingess has resigned as postmaster of Huntington, W. Va.

The new postmaster will be Col. J. Harvey Long, of the Huntington Advertiser.

Official announcement of this effect reached Huntington Thursday from U. S. Senator William E. Chilton.

Concerning the change in postmasters the Huntington Herald Dispatch Friday morning said:

The announcement of the change at the post office was made to the Herald-Dispatch by Assistant District Attorney E. Wither McCullough, who said: "Senator Chilton has authorized me to state that Mr. Dingess has resigned as postmaster, and that Senator Chilton has recommended Mr. J. H. Long as his successor. The senator also authorized me to say that the appointment is a personal compliment to Mr. Long and a recognition of his lifelong standing as a Democrat. The appointment has been made on the recommendation of Democrats of Cabell county."

Up until a late hour Thursday evening only a very few knew of these big moves in Democratic politics in Huntington, and while, when Col. Long departed Wednesday evening for Washington to confer with Senator Chilton, it was realized that important developments were impending, it was not until 7:30 o'clock last evening that Mr. McCullough, after a conversation over long distance telephone with Senator Chilton, stated that he was able to make the announcement as quoted above.

By those familiar with local Democratic politics it is said to be a tardy but deserved recognition of Col. Long for his years of faithful service to the Democratic party.

Mr. Dingess, it is understood, will in the future devote his time entirely to the local office of the Columbus Heating & Ventilating Company, with which he was connected before he became postmaster. Mr. Dingess' resignation was occasioned, it is added, by his belief that his best interests were in the direction of devoting more attention to the heating and ventilating business. Mr. Dingess left Monday to spend several weeks in Florida, after sending in his resignation. Mr. Dingess has been postmaster for the past year and a half, and there would be two years and one-half in his unexpired term.

With the announcement today that Col. Long is to attain his ambition and the ambition of his friends for him, it is well within the bounds of probability to assume that this will be the liveliest day in recent months in Democratic politics. For to many the announcement will come as a bomb-shell. To get a proper perspective of the story it is necessary to go back a couple of years, when, after the election of President Wilson there arose the question of a postmaster for Huntington. Col. Long, among others, spoke in Cleveland tomorrow night, in Milwaukee Monday; in

Washington, Jan. 28.—President Wilson returned from New York at 7:15 a. m. today. He went immediately to the White House.

The president planned a busy day finishing up pressing public business prior to departing to night for Pittsburgh and the middle west to deliver a series of speeches on national defense. He is anxious that the "speeding up" process in congress be well under way before his return February 4.

The president saw several senators and representatives on legislative matters but the usual Friday cabinet meeting was cancelled.

He expected to see Secretary Lansing, however, to discuss foreign questions. During the president's trip Mr. Lansing will keep him informed constantly of all important developments in the international situation. Before departing tonight the president and Mrs. Wilson will attend a dinner given in their honor by Secretary and Mrs. McAdoo.

The president will deliver the first address of his western trip in Pittsburgh tomorrow. He will, in Cleveland tomorrow night, in Milwaukee Monday; in the accounting must be definite on the part of parties and on the part of every individual who wishes to enjoy the public confidence.

"For my part I hope every man in public life will get what's coming to him," said Mr. Wilson amid laughter.

The President admitted that in a message to the last Congress he had said the need for preparedness was not pressing. He declared that he had learned something in the meantime. He cited his recent support of a tariff commission as another instance of a change on his part but declared that "previously there was no need for such a commission. The business men enthusiastically cheered his support of the commission."

Mr. Wilson spoke of men of high character, who were clouding the preparedness issue. He declared they were provincial and the United States could no longer hold itself off from the rest of the world.

He asserted that to invade Mexico would mean the losing of the confidence of the rest of the Western hemisphere. He cited the freeing of Cuba as an instance of good done by the United States.

"If we are drawn into the maelstrom which now surges in Europe," the President declared, "we shall not be permitted to do the high things we would prefer."

The President defended the continental army plan drawn up by Secretary Garrison, and said that he did not care about the details of any plan as long as 500,000 trained men were provided as reserves under the Federal government. He advocated strengthening the National Guard, but said the Constitution itself put the guard under the state. He added that the United States will not turn in the direction of militarism.

Outlining why the United States should prepare, Mr. Wilson said we must protect our rights as a nation and the rights of our citizens in America and outside of it as the consensus of civilized people have defined them; must ensure the unembarrassed realization of our political development within our own borders, and must protect the peace and political autonomy.

Industrial preparedness, with the military training students in industrial schools was proposed by the president. He left consideration of navy plans for later addresses.

Business men who formerly relied on protective measures in their dealings with foreign powers were criticized by Mr. Wilson. He said American business men should be able to hold their own against the world.

In his address at the Railway Association banquet President Wilson said:

"We live in a world which we did not make, which we cannot alter, which we cannot think into a different condition from that which actually exists. It would be a hopeless piece of provincialism to suppose that, because we think differently from the rest of the world, we are at liberty to assume that the rest of the world will permit us to enjoy that thought without disturbance."

"In all the belligerent countries, men without distinction of party, have drawn together to accomplish a successful prosecution of the war. Is it not a more difficult and a more desirable thing that all Americans, should put partisan prepossession aside and draw together for the successful prosecution of peace? I covet that distinction for America, and I believe that America is going to enjoy that distinction."

"Only the other day the leader of the Republican minority in the House of Representatives delivered a speech that showed that he was ready, and I take it for granted that the men behind him were ready, to forget party lines in order that all men may act with a common mind and impulse for the service of the country. And I want, upon this first public occasion, to pay my tribute of respect and obligation to him."

"Think of the position into which America has been drawn, almost in spite of herself, by the circumstances of the present day. She alone is free to help find things wherever they show themselves in the world. And she is forced, also, whether she will or not, in the decades immediately ahead of us, to furnish the world with its chief economic guidance and assistance."

"It is very fine to remember that ideals will be back of that assistance. Economic assistance, in itself is not necessarily handsome. It is a legitimate thing to make money. Money brings with it power, which may be well or ill employed. And it should be the pride of America always to employ her money to the highest purpose. And yet, if we are drawn into the maelstrom that now surges across the water and swirls even in the western regions of the world we shall not be permitted to keep a free hand to the high things that we intend to do. And it is necessary that we should examine ourselves and no order that we can make certain that the tasks imposed upon us will be performed, and well performed."

"America has been reluctant to match her wits with the rest of the world. When I face a body of men like this, it is almost incredible to remember that only yesterday they were afraid to put their wits into free competition with the world. The best brains in the world are afraid to match brains with the rest of the world. We have preferred to stand behind protection devices. And now we are thrust out to do, on a scale never dreamed of in recent generations in America, the business of the world."

"We can no longer be a provincial nation."

"Let no man dare to say, if he would speak the truth, that the

U. S. PROTESTS SHARPLY AGAINST INTERFERENCE WITH NEUTRAL MAILS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—Great Britain's interference with neutral mails is the subject of a sharp protest on the part of the United States in a note to the British government, the text of which was published today.

The communication discloses that diplomatic and consular dispatches have been treated by British officials in a manner regarded by the United States as vexatiously inquisitorial, which practices are denounced as "unwarranted interference."

The note also cites repeated seizures of mail in violation of international law and challenges Great Britain's jurisdiction over mails on ships touching at British ports.

Attention is called to the fact that "A strong feeling is being aroused" in the United States by the loss of valuable letters, while foreign bankers are refusing to cash American drafts because they have no assurances that drafts are secure in the mails.

Great Britain's tentative reply, made public with the text of the American note, promises without "unnecessary delay" to give the results of a consultation that is in progress between Great Britain and her allies regarding the policy to be pursued.

Newsboy Kicked A Box Filled With Bank Notes; Youths Held As Bandits

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 28.—Five young men, who are said by the police to be the bandits who held up the Washington Park National Bank yesterday and secured with $15,000 in currency, were taken into custody early today. Officers raided a house on the west side here, when a newsboy on the way to his stand saw a pasteboard box on the sidewalk and kicked it. Bank notes flew in every direction, according to the police. The raid and arrests followed. Detectives all night had been watching the house in which the men were arrested, on information furnished by Mrs. Joseph Friedman, who, with her husband, was taken into custody. The arrests did not take place until the money was discovered. Although the bills have not been counted, it is said that the box contained approximately $15,000. Detectives who assisted in making the arrests, said they believed the money was thrown into the street after it was learned the house had been surrounded.

Mr. Wilson was in a fighting mood throughout his address. In a speech delivered earlier during the day he declared he always accepted an invitation to fight. He told the railroad men he was an advocate of peace and he had struggled to keep the United States at peace, but he considered the liberty and honor of the nation even more important than peace.

"We to any man who plays marplot or who seeks to make party politics or personal ambition take precedence over candor, honor, and unselfishness, no partisan service," said the President, in speaking of his defense plan, before the railroad men. He declared the country expects action, "This is a year of accounting and

"I MUST BE HARD TO KILL," SAYS GIRL ON REGAINING CONSCIOUSNESS AFTER FALLING SIXTEEN STORIES

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Miss Minnie B. Werner, who fell 16 stories from a window of the Transportation Building last Monday, recovered consciousness today. Her first words were: "I must be hard to kill." Hospital physicians said they believed the girl would recover. Miss Werner owes her escape from death to the fact that she fell on top of a covered automobile truck.

Would Welcome Babes With Open Arms

Chillicothe, Jan. 28.—With Chillicothe, there is another chance this summer, the "News-Advertiser" asked President Joe Carr of the Ohio State league, when he stopped here yesterday, says the Chillicothe News-Advertiser.

"The Ohio State league will welcome Chillicothe with open arms," he replied. "Chillicothe will mean a great deal for the league if it gets in and gets in right."

Half way measures, though, would best be left undone. It is up to the city to show the circuit that it means business.

"Already it is beginning to look good for baseball next summer," he rattled on. Carr loves baseball, thinks baseball and talks baseball, and when he gets fairly under way, there is no stopping him. "The country had a re-lapse last year, but interest is beginning to crop out strong for next summer. Here in Chillicothe there is a golden opportunity for a couple of well known and respected young men who could take the club and run it in a business like manner. There is not a nickel of indebtedness against the franchise and everything is ready to start off in good order. In 1914, the last full year of baseball here, the club's receipts were better than $16,000. In 1915 not a club in the circuit spent over $9,000 during the entire year.

"The city needs baseball for a number of reasons," continued Carr. "For one thing it furnishes a source of amusement, which Chillicothe certainly needs. Again, it helps business. No business man in the city will dispute this; and third, it advertises the town. We hope Chillicothe will kick in."

GAMES TONIGHT

Submarines vs. Spiders, alleys 4 and 5.

By keeping everlastingly at it, those Clod Hoppers, who have been curried around by various teams in the Masonic Bowling League, came to life at the Play House alleys last night and tripped up the Wurster Rexalls, two out of three on alleys 4 and 5. The splendid work of Edward Leach and Captain D. C. Jackson, put the Clod Hoppers over the fence in the first two games. It was then that the Rexalls whipped up and tossed out their opponents in the third game, thus saving themselves from a white wash. In this game the Rexalls went at a nice clip, and incidentally they hung up the largest score in the contest. The work of each Rexall was right up to the handle, chiefly that of Merle Dudditt, who hit her up for 182 and was just as happy as though he had closed a ten thousand dollar real estate deal. In fact he will sacrifice his commission on a sale of that magnitude any time for a score of that proportion. By winning the lone game the Rexalls held out fourth place for the first half. At the opening of the season, Captain George Wurster predicted that his team would finish in the first division. In the prediction line he is just like Charles Herzog of the Cincinnati Reds, only different—George made good.

Captain Jackson was out to win and he worked hard, spurring on his men at every possible stage. Bradford, lead off man, had his troubles in the first two games, when he worked like a horse to get 140. He came to life, however, in the last game, hanging up 184. Walter Wilhelm, had one of his poorest nights, though he tried hard enough to make a million. He didn't do so bad in his second game, but wishes his other efforts could be bottled out of the book of remembrance. Charles Scudder, after a rather disastrous get-away, came to the front in rapid strides and finished with 166, a good score for a real good bowler, and one that the popular insurance man will remember as long as time lasts. As before, Captain Jackson was in top form and the fighting fettle. He changed into the wood for 189 at the very start, and while his other scores were not of top heavy variety, nevertheless his average was above the 150 mark, which shows skill. Edward Leach was a near cut for fair, and more than redeemed himself for his work of last week. He started back with 193, came right back with 178 and finished the work with 159—some work.

President W. J. Keyes was off form in his first two games, but came back like the thoroughbred he is and clipped off 161 as a final score. The excellent work of Merle Dudditt has already been favorably commented upon. Will Hazebek was like a ship without a rudder in his first two games, but that he has plenty of that good old nerve was conclusively demonstrated in his last game when he hooked but one pin of making 190. Captain Wurster had one good game, 189, and two that were not so good. However, his average was well up in the 160 circle, and that is going some! Pearl Cranston was only fair, although he scored heavily after a bad start. The score:

NOTES.

The scheduled game between the Giant Killers and Corn Shuckers, which was to have been held tonight, has been called off and will be played some evening next week.

The Spiders and Clod Hoppers will bowl off their postponed games on next Tuesday evening.

With the rolling of the above postponed games, the first half will officially close in a close and big battle must be pulled off. This banquet will be served in the Temple and the committee on arrangements consists of President W. J. Keyes, F. W. Sheridan, Floyd Fuller and George Wurster. It promises to be a very fine affair indeed.

How Climate Has Changed.

In Switzerland a mean temperature equal to that of north Africa at the present time is shown by its fossil flora to have prevailed during the miocene or middle tertiary epoch. Anthropoid apes lived in Germany and France; the old champion trees flourished at Danzig; in Greenland, up to 70 degrees of latitude, magnolias bloomed and vines ripened their fruit, while in Spitzbergen and even in Grinnell Land, within little more than 5 degrees of the pole, swampy cypresses and walnuts, cedars, limes, planes and poplars grew freely. Water lilies covered over standing ponds, and trees lifted their tall heads by the margins of streams and rivers.—Dunlap Advertiser.

A PLEA FOR KENTUCKY

Addressing the publishers of Ohio Daily newspapers at Columbus, Wednesday morning of this week, Hon. J. Sherman Porter, editor of the Lexington, Ky., Leader, made a strong plea for justice to his adopted state in the matter of handling news. It is the old case of giving a dog a bad name and it will cling to him no matter how undeserved. Kentucky has been the scene of bitter feuds in days gone past, Mr. Porter explained. "Some communities undoubtedly ran wild, but it was only a spasmodic eruption. The people of Kentucky are not different from the people in Ohio," said Mr. Porter. "They are good, law-abiding citizens. They believe in upholding the law. They are not behind other communities in the percentage of illiterates. Most of her people are pure, native stock, few foreign born residents being numbered among her population." Here the speaker cited some statistics to show that there were higher percentages of illiteracy in various Ohio cities than in Kentucky. Then he remarked, "We had a few feuds and now every time there is a murder in our state it is heralded broadcast as a feud. A murder with a Kentucky date line on it, will get on the first page of every daily in the land under a scare head, while a more gruesome murder from some other locality will go on the back page under an eight point head. Why, life is safer in Breathitt county, Ky., than it is in the large cities of the country and statistics will bear me out."

It was a good, strong, sensible plea for a great state that has received more than its share of publicity, and undeserved publicity at that. Incidentally Mr. Porter is an Ohio man, having been born and reared at Gallipolis, although he has resided at Lexington for a number of years. He has developed into a first class speaker in addition to being a first class newspaper man, and his address was one of the very best on the program of the Associated Dailies meeting. It was a pleasure to hear him and publishers gave him that hearty, whole-souled applause when he concluded that showed that it was meant.

THE MARVEL OF THE AGE

In Chicago they are holding a show to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the automobile. Two decades are not long, but in the span of gain scarce anything marks such length of advance as the progress from the "one-lunger" as the first automobile was called, to the cars, running from four to twelve cylinders, in which ride millions today.

The advent of the automobile brought with it some derision, but it made progress from the start. In 1899, when it was three years old, 3,700 were sold. From thence it began to break a speed record every year in popular acceptance. Last year almost 500,000 motor vehicles of all descriptions found buyers. It is estimated the demand this year will call for near a million and a quarter. That is not extravagant considering past increase and present call. The truth of it is that demand was never equal to that of the present moment. Every prominent factory has more orders on hand than it can fill and agents from all over the country are driving makers to distraction by insistent clamor for at least a part of their allotment.

And talk about gasoline going up. Small wonder. Automobiles in 1915 drank up not so very far from a billion gallons of fluid fuel. This year they are expected to consume far over a billion.

We are willing to admit the grace and beauty of diction and the general effectiveness of the oratory of Colonel Clinkenbeard, but we serve notice on him right now that he will find in us a most severe and unsparing critic if he starts in to add letter writing to his other accomplishments.

The cold wave cut it a trifle short, but it is well to be thankful even for small blessings.

"O, THE TEARS WE WASTE"

WHAT THE FIGURES TELL

"The states of the old confederacy have less population, all of them together, than the state of New York."

Using this premise as a text, a paper that struggles desperately for the dubious credit of being a G. O. P. organ, proceeds to give the old and almost forgotten bloody shirt a few wares and raises an alarm of how the southern confederates are in the congressional saddle and overriding all of our grandest and fondest institutions. If its conclusions be as false as its figures, or its assumption of what are the figures, then its case is more than a farce, it is a tragedy of ignorance. New York, according to the census report of 1910, had a population of not quite ten million; the states of the confederacy, Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Maryland, North Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, South Carolina and Virginia, according to that same report, had almost thirty-one million. Admittedly New York has gained some in the past five and half years, but it is doubtful if she leads Texas alone in that respect and all the other states mentioned have been showing unwonted development during the same period. So the probabilities are that the so-called rebel states have close on to four times as many citizens as has New York.

DOES NOT EXCITE US

We have been reading so long and so elaborately about a certain dinner party that a certain Columbus editor plans to give some of his admiring rural or provincial knights of the pen that we have come to the conclusion that on matters eatable so far as editors are concerned banquets are just to be read about and not met up with in real china and silver form. That is why we decline to get excited over the proposition which follows from the Wellston Daily Sentinel:

"Some of these sunshiny days when the buds begin to burst, and polk, rape, dandelion, leather breeches and other luscious members of the greens flock, begin to show themselves along the streams and in the meadows, we are going to invite our old friends Harry Taylor, of The Portsmouth Times, and Editor Funk of the Oak Hill Press, to come up and dine us. We have already got our eye 'sot' on a hog jowl to season the pot and it will be a feast 'fitten for the gods such as they are.' It will far eclipse that long promised dinner that Editor Wilson of the State Journal, has been welching on since the memory of man runneth, etc."

A VIRTUE SURVEY

There have been so many vice surveys in this country, how would it do to have a virtue survey, just for a change? We have had hordes of so-called experts going about the cities nosing out vice, and charting it and labeling it. We have read so many reports of vice existing here and there, that we believe if somebody would invent a virtue committee it would come as a relief.

Let's start out a committee hunting virtue. Let's know something about how good this old world is, now that we have been told how bad it is. Let's put people to nosing around to find out how good some of us are, instead of having them ferreting out facts about our badness. Wouldn't it be inspiring?

We are receiving daily the reports of vice commissions of various cities. They are sordid, of course. Some of these reports embody hundreds of pages, and the literature can not pass through the mails. But there has been received in this office only one document showing how many good people there are in any city.—Columbus Dispatch.

O-O-MENTYRE.

New York, Jan. 28.—Mr. Percy kept an appointment. Finally the Mackays and his butterfly social elaters will not be permitted to clutter up the sheep meadow in Central Park with their Shakespeare Tercentenary Celebration. Mr. Mackay has a fondness for getting in the spotlight and selected Central Park for the scene.

He overlooked one little fact. Central Park belongs to the "people," the common herd, if you please—and no crowd of gilded moneybags with their smooth tongues and slick ways can take it away from them. Little Tony Marine, from Baxter street, has as much right to gambol on the green in Central Park as Algonquin Fauntleroy da Spindlelegg from the sacred brown fronts.

Mayor Mitchell spiked the little game just when the press agent force was in a fever of activity over the plan. The park police are careful to drive out the heedless and vicious and Mayor Mitchell, even if he does mingle in society, believes that society people should also be prevented from a park invasion.

William Camp, eminent cigarette manufacturer and retired husband, dropped into Reel's the other night well fortified for the evening's entertainment and accompanied by an exceedingly comely young person.

Ma promises that she'll keep still, then off we go. But soon she notices ahead a peddler and his cart.

"You'd better toot your horn," says she, "to let him know we're near."

He might turn out," and pa replies, "Just shriek at him, my dear."

And then he adds, "Some day some guy will make a lot of dough By putting horns on toucan seats for women folks to blow."

A little further on ma says, "He signaled for a turn."

And pa says, "Did he?" in a tone that's hot enough to burn.

"Oh, there's a boy on roller skates," ma cries, "Now do go slow!"

"Not at all. I have no hope of being nominated, but I shall come out with flying colors. I am going to make speeches saying that the bosses will have to take me or else take Roosevelt. And, as they're going to take Roosevelt anyway, a lot of the neighbors will think I jammed him down the bosses' throats. It is likely to make me an alderman eventually."

Three more ice skating rinks are announced for the Broadway section and two new skate stores have opened. The town seems to be skating mad. Maurice the Castles and Bonnie Glass are secretly learning the skating art and experts are in demand in the vaudeville houses.

ATTY. B. F. KIMBLE SUFFERS BROKEN JAW IN AN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Fracture of the lower left jaw, a badly cut cheek and bruises to his left leg were suffered by Attorney B. F. Kimble of the well known legal firm of Attorneys Blair and Kimble in a regrettable automobile accident, which took place at Ninth and Grimes avenue at 9:50 Thursday evening.

Just as Mr. Kimble went to step from his machine to get his glasses in the office of Dr. Walter Braulin on Ninth street he was struck by the windshield or steel rod that holds up the "one man top" of a machine owned and driven by Harry Shaw, N. & W. machinist residing with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Shaw, of 1553 Ninth street and was hurled to the street. Luckily the hood of the machine did not hit Mr. Kimble or the accident would have been even more serious than it was.

Mr. Shaw, who was driving east on Ninth street, assisted in taking Mr. Kimble to Dr. Braulin's office, where it was soon discovered that his lower left jaw had been fractured and a facial artery severed. Dr. J. E. Rogers was called and he and Dr. Braulin attended Mr. Kimble, who was later removed to his home, 1920 Hutchins street, in Dr. Rogers' machine as quickly as possible and did all he could to assist Mr. Kimble. He was driving several friends home on the Hilltop when the accident took place. Mr. Shaw deeply regretted the accident, as it is the first one he has had since he purchased his new car.

Mr. Kimble rested fairly well last night. His injuries are quite serious and will confine him to his home for a week or ten days. He drove his car to the Second Presbyterian church last evening after finishing up some work in his office and was met there by Mrs. Kimble and two children, Lawrence and Bernice. Mrs. Kimble had attended choir practice at this church.

sovereignty—which goes as of course. There is also the maintenance of our liberty to develop our political institutions without hindrance and last of all there is the determination and the obligation to stand as the strong brother of all those in this hemisphere who will maintain the same principles and who will follow the same ideals of liberty.

Cautions As To Mexico

"May I venture to insert here a parenthesis? Have any of you thought of this? We have slowly, very slowly, indeed, begun to win the confidence of the other states of the American hemisphere. If we should go into Mexico, do you know what would happen? The sympathy of the rest of America would look across the water and not northward, to the great republic which we profess to represent."

"And do you not see the consequences that would ensue in every international relationship? Have the gentlemen who have rushed down to Washington to insist that we should go into Mexico, reflected upon the politics of the world? Nobody seriously supposes, gentlemen, that the United States needs to fear an invasion of its own territory. What it has to fear, if she has anything to fear, are indirect, roundabout flank movements, upon her neighbor position in the western hemisphere. Are we going to open those gates, or are we going to close them? For they are the gates to the hearts of our American friends to the south of us, and not the gates to the ports. Win their support, and you have the only sort of leadership and the only sort of safety that America covets. We must all of us think, gentlemen, in terms of the world and must learn what it is that America has not set out to maintain as a standard bearer for all those whose liberty and justice and the righteousness of political action."

"But gentlemen, we must find means to do this thing which are suitable to time. Does anybody understand the time? Perhaps when you learned as I dare say you did learn beforehand, that I was expecting to address you on the subject of preparedness, you recalled the address which I made to congress something more than a year ago, in which I said that this question of military preparedness was not a pressing question. But more than a year has gone by since then, and I would be ashamed if I had not learned something in fourteen months. The minute I stop changing my mind as president, with the change of all the circumstances in the world I will be a back number."

"There is another thing about which I have changed my mind. A year ago I was not in favor of a tariff board and I will tell you why:

"Because the only purpose of a tariff board was to keep alive an unprofitable controversy. If you set up any board of inquiry whose purpose it is to keep business disturbed, and to make it always an open question what you are going to do about the public policy of the government, I am opposed to it. There is a great deal more opinion voiced in this world that is consistent with logic."

"But the circumstances of the present time are these: There is going on in the world, under our eyes, an economic revolution. I hear a great many things predicted about the end of the war, but I don't know anything about what is going to happen when the war is over, and neither do you."

"What I am trying to impress upon you is that the circumstances of the world today are not what they were yesterday, or what they were in any of our yesterday and that it is not certain what they will be tomorrow. I cannot tell you what the international relations of this country will be tomorrow and I use the word literally. And I would not dare keep silent and let the country suppose that tomorrow was certain to be bright as today."

America Never Aggressor

"America will never be the aggressor; America will always seek to the last point at which honor is involved, to avoid things which disturb the peace of the world. But America does not control the circumstances of the world. It goes without saying that one thing this country never will endure is a system that can be called militarism."

"America is always going to use her army in two ways. She is going to use it for the purpose of peace and she is going to use it as a nucleus for expansion into those things which she does believe in, namely, the preparedness of her citizens to take care of themselves.

"There are two sides to the question of preparation. There is not merely the military side, there is the industrial side. And the ideal which I have in mind is this, gentlemen: We ought to have in this country, a great system of vocational and industrial training, under federal guidance, and with federal aid, in which a large percentage of the country will be given training in the skillful use, and application of the principles of science in manufacture and business and it will be perfectly possible and highly desirable to add that, and combine with it, such a training in the mechanism and use, care of arms, in the sanitation of the camp, in the simpler forms of maneuver and organization as will take these same industrially efficient and industrially serviceable for national defense."

"The point about such a system will be that its emphasis will be on the industrial and civil side of life; and that like all the rest of America, the use of force will only be in the background, and as the last resort."

Will Take Time

"But gentlemen, you cannot create such a system overnight. It has got to be built up; and I hope it will be built up, by slow and effective stages, and there is something to be done in the meantime. We must see to it that a sufficient body of citizens is given the kind of training which will make them efficient for call into the field in case of necessity."

"What we need is a body of men trained in association with units of the army, a body of men organized under the immediate direction of the national authorities, a body of men subject to the immediate call to arms of the national authority and yet men not put into the ranks of the regular army."

"I am not a partisan of any one plan. But what I am for, and what every American ought to insist upon, is a body of at least a half a million trained citizens who will serve under conditions of danger as an immediately available national reserve."

"I am not saying anything about the navy. I want to stick to the army because for some reason there is not the same controversy about the navy that there is about the army. The navy is so obvious an instrument of national defense that I believe that, with differences of opinion about the detail it is not going to be difficult to carry out a proper and reasonable program for the increase of the navy."

Americans Are Expect

"No political party, no group of men can ever disappoint America. This is a year of political accounting and the Americans in politics are rather expert accountants. They know what the books contain and they are not going to be deceived."

"No man is going to hide behind any excuses. The goods must be delivered though the confidence will not be enjoyed; and for my part I hope every man in public life will get what is coming to him."

Chilton is angling for the support of Col. Long's newspaper, as the senator would not need to angle for something he would get anyway. In fact, emphasis is laid on the statement that "no strings whatsoever" are attached to the appointment, but that it is a deserved compliment to a veteran Democrat, some of the friends of whom have long been away from the pie counter. At the same time, it is added, there can be no doubt that the coolness between the Kanawha statesman and the Campbell editor will be somewhat abated.

What attitude will be taken by friends of Mr. Col. and by that leader or himself, is a political problem, the solution of which Mr. Neal hasn't yet seen fit to give out, save to his most intimate friends. Some of Mr. Neal's followers profess at least to be surprised at the strange turn of events, but no doubt they will wait for their leader to interpret for them the attitude of Senator Chilton.

But not even by the most optimistic it is imagined that the appointment means a burial of the hatchet between the rival Democratic clans.

Friends of Col. Long state that he is eminently qualified for the position as he is rated as one of the foremost business men of the city. For the past twenty years, he has been editor and owner of the Huntington Advertiser, and its policy has been consistently Democratic.

He was born in Lebanon county, Pennsylvania, in 1863, and has been a resident of this city for nearly three decades.

In Huntington he has devoted his business energies almost entirely to the operation of his newspaper and its subsidiary printing establishments, and in this he has been eminently successful. Col. Long is a Stirling and member of the Knights Templar, a leading figure in the Chamber of Commerce, and prominent in the civic and artistic ambitions of the city. During late years The Advertiser has been published under the name of J. H. Long & Son and it is understood that when Col. Long assumes the duties of postmaster, the active management of the newspaper will be placed in the hands of his oldest son, Luther Thompson Long, who is well equipped for the position through years of experience.

DIDN'T WAVE KNIFE

"Boys, I'll not have a corn knife before you this morning," said Mayor Kaps at the adjournment of police court Friday morning. "If I did, it would be sure to get in the papers," he added.

The session of police court was brief, being confined to the examination of three plain drunks and one man arrested for begging. Eugene Fuller, of New Boston, Frank Shafer, of Wellston, and William Meghin, of Pike county, each pleaded guilty to drunkenness, and were fined $5, and costs each. James Ryan, of Covington, Ky., who pleaded guilty to begging, drew a fine of $10 and costs.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Nancy Ham

Death at 5 o'clock Friday morning claimed Mrs. Nancy Ham, beloved wife of William Ham, a local real estate agent, who resided at 2123 Seventh street. Immediate cause of death was complications, superinduced by grip. Mrs. Ham had been an invalid for practically 38 years. She was unable to walk a step during most of those years.

In addition to her husband she is survived by the following children: George W. J. Riley, and Matthew Ham, and Mrs. Sarah S. Konard and the city. During late years Mrs. Elizabeth McGlothin, two brothers also, survive. Oliver and George W. McGlothin, of Rowen county, Kentucky. Mrs. Ham would have been 73 years old had she lived until March 18. Her maiden name was McGlothin. Mr. and Mrs. Ham, who spent many years of their life in Lewis county, Kentucky, came to Portsmouth in 1890. Mrs. Ham was a fine Christian woman, generous-hearted at all times, and during her long enfeebled condition she was always bright and cheerful and never complained of her lot.

The body will be shipped Friday to Vanceburg, Ky., and the funeral services and interment will be held there.

Ironton, O., Jan. 28.—Captain William Bay, of Ironton, charged with the murder of Basil Kitts, of Cold Branch, Ky., withdrew his motion for a change of venue in the Greenup county court yesterday and a continuance of the case until the July term of court was mutually agreed upon by the attorneys for the Commonwealth, Messrs. Coldiron and Nichols and Attorney Johnson, Hager and Willis for the defendant.

The hearing on the Bay motion was the only one that came before the court yesterday and it consumed quite a great deal of time.

Twenty-five witnesses for the Commonwealth testified that to the extent of their knowledge and belief Capt. Bay would be accorded a fair and just trial in Greenup county and at the conclusion of this testimony the defendant withdrew the motion and the continuance was agreed to.

COURT MARTIAL OF OFFICERS MAY RESULT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—Court-martial of three American army officers—Lieutenants Peyton, Mort and Waldron—who led a detachment of soldiers into Mexico to rescue two comrades who had been captured by armed Mexicans near Brownsville, Texas, probably will result, if an investigation proves that they probably would be held responsible for the death of four members of the rescue party who were drowned in the Rio Grande while returning from the expedition.

Secretary Garrison said positive orders had been given army officers not to cross the boundary line without instructions from Washington.

Prompt action on the part of the Carranza authorities in returning the two captured American soldiers, who were regarded here as indicative of a desire to prove their innocence and to show good-will toward the United States.

Yard Conductor Is Victim Of Accident

W. E. Adkins, 27, N. & W. yard conductor on engine 376, was badly bruised about the chest and shoulder Thursday at 9:30 o'clock, when he was caught between two cars. Adkins was setting out bad order cars on the east end of track No. 73, in the east yard at East Portsmouth. The engine backed up a cut of cars and Adkins was squeezed between the bumper blocks of two cars. He was assisted to the Y. M. C. A., where the company physician, Dr. S. S. Halderman, made an examination of his injuries. It is thought that he is internally injured about the chest. He was able to go to his home on Oak street, New Boston.

Battle of the Herring.

The battle of the Herring was the comical name given to a fight between an English corvette and a French detachment not far from Orleans in 1592. The English were conveying a large quantity of supplies, mainly herring, for it was Lent, to the army that was besieging Orleans. The English had 1,000 men, the French 6,000. The latter repulsed the assaults and won the herring, so the battle was called. The English lost the supplies.—London Telegraph.

PRESIDENT

question of preparation for national defense is a question of war or of peace.

"If there is one passion more deep seated in the hearts of our fellow countrymen than another it is the passion for peace. No nation in the world ever more instinctively turned away from the thought of war than this nation to which we belong. Partly because, in the plenitude of its power in the unresisted area of its opportunities it has found nothing to covet in the procession and power of other nations."

"There is no spirit of aggrandizement in America. There is no desire on the part of any thoughtful and conscientious American man to take one foot of territory from any nation in the world. And I myself share to the bottom of my heart that profound love for peace. I have sought to maintain peace against very great and sometimes, very unfair odds and I am ready, at any time, to use every power that is in me to prevent such a catastrophe as war coming upon this country."

Bound To Principles

"So that it is not permissible for any man to say that the defense of the nation has the least tinge in it of desire for power which can be used to bring on war. But, gentlemen, there is something that the American people love better than they love peace. They love the principles upon which their political life is founded. They are ready at any time to fight for the vindication of their character and of their honor. They will at no time seek a contest, but they will at no time cravenly avoid it. Because, if there is one thing that the country ought to fight for, and that every nation ought to fight for, it is integrity of its own convictions. We cannot surrender our convictions, I would rather surrender territory than surrender those ideals, which are the staff of life for the soul itself. And because we hold certain ideals, we have thought it was right we should hold them for others as well as for ourselves."

"And whether by one process or another we have made ourselves in some sort the champions of free government and national sovereignty in both continents of this hemisphere. So that there are certain obligations, which every American knows, that we have undertaken. The first and primary obligation is the maintenance of the integrity of our own
